Liquor License Money Swells City Treasury--All the High School Steel Bids Rejected

There was money galore at the city treasurer's office today and it was suggested that armful men should be standing guard while it was being counted. Anyone of the many wads that found their way to the general treasury would have sufficed for an elegant and extended vacation, but they were not being handed in for that purpose. The men who requested liquor licenses and received them were responsible for the "banking house" appearance of the treasurer's office today.

Up to the noon hour the sum of $12,100 was taken in and there was still one of the 193 license holders to be heard from. He was a "fourth class" man--the holder of a fourth class license. The costs of the various licenses are as follows: Hotel license, $100; Public house license, $100; Continued to Last Page

100 REPORTED KILLED STREET FIGHT GOES ON

Mr. Redmond Says Rising is Last Blow at Home Rule--Liberty Hall Shelled By Gunboat--Rebels Bombarded By Artillery--Driven Out of Trenches in Stephens Green With Heavy Losses

Newspaper despatches from Dublin report parts of the city in flames, with street fighting and looting continuing, but with steady progress being made by the military against the rebels. Artillery fire is being directed against burning buildings in some quarters, it is reported.

Last night, according to one correspondent, the troops, reinforced by new arrivals, appeared to be getting the upper hand and the end seemed near. All the rebel positions are declared to be commanded by the regulars.

Official news on the condition of affairs in Dublin today is lacking and the situation in disaffected districts outside the city is clouded in uncertainty.

LONDON, April 29, 12.40 p. m.--Parts of the city of Dublin are in flames, an Evening News despatch filed at Belfast last night says. Street fighting continues and there is much looting, it is said, but the reinforced military is making steady progress. Most of the shops are closed and passenger communication is still cut off.

One despatch received from Ireland this afternoon says that Sackville and Grafton streets in Dublin are in flames and that artillery is being used on the houses, the inhabitants having been removed.

The most important recent news, that the rebels have been driven out of St. Stephen's Green with bombs, sustaining heavy losses in killed, wounded and prisoners, has not been confirmed officially. There seems to be no doubt, however, that the rebels are still in control of various parts of Dublin, and that street fighting continues with a lengthening list of casualties. It is reported the casualty list already exceeds 100.

Of the situation outside Dublin little is known beyond the official admission that the disaffection has spread to various localities in the west and south of Ireland. Field Marshal French's statement of last night described these disturbances as local in character, and so far as has been revealed by information which has passed the censorship, they have not been attended by heavy fighting.

DUBLIN CASUALTIES

One Hundred Persons Killed or Injured--Rebels Keep Up a Constant Fusillade

LONDON, April 29--Upwards of one hundred persons have been killed or injured thus far in Dublin, a correspondent at Belfast in an Evening News despatch filed last night. He says the rioters, hidden in houses commanding important street junctions or covered by barricades in the streets, are keeping up a constant fusillade. The list of casualties continues to lengthen. It includes many civilians who, the correspondent says, have been picked off by Sinn Fein snipers for no other reason than that they were believed to be loyal.

The cordon of troops is being drawn gradually but surely around the rebels. The authorities are carrying on their difficult task with the greatest forbearance. Every effort is being made to avoid unnecessary bloodshed and damage.

Eyo Witness Describes Dublin Uprising--Much of Firing Was of Blank Cartridges

LONDON, April 29.--The Times publishes an account by an eye-witness of the Dublin uprising which emphasizes the excellent organization of the rebels and the fairly successful efforts of the leaders to restrain rioting. This account says:

"Civilians were not molested in the streets and much of the firing was of blank cartridges. There was an effort to show that the movement was strictly military in character and directed only against the government, not against the populace. There was a little looting, but only about 10 or 20

BRITISH SURRENDER IN THE MESOPOTAMIA

Maj. Gen. Townshend, Head of British Forces at Kut-el-Amara, Forced to Surrender to Turks

Gen. Townshend, commanding the British force that has been beleaguered by the Turks at Kut-el-Amara on the Tigris in Mesopotamia since last December, has surrendered.

A British army for months has been fighting its way up the Tigris to the relief of Gen. Townshend's force, but although it has won successes, and worked to within less than 20 miles of the distressed garrison, Turkish resistance and stubborn Turkish resistance have prevented its further advance.

A recent attempt to send supplies to Kut-el-Amara by a relief ship under cover of darkness failed. The force under Gen. Townshend's command retreated to that point, 110 miles down the Tigris from Bagdad, after its defeat late last year in a battle fought at Ctesiphon, 18 miles from Bagdad.

In the Tigris region in France the Germans have resumed a pronounced offensive, delivering a vigorous attack in the vicinity of Thiaumont farm, east of the Meuse, near Douaumont, and massing for an assault after violently bombarding French positions near Avocourt and the dominating hill 304, to the west of it.

The Thiaumont attack was repulsed with heavy losses, Paris declares, while the French artillery dispersed the German masses before they could advance to the assault in the Avocourt sector.

The notable series of attacks by the Germans on the British lines in northern France and Belgium, reported Thursday night by London, seems to have been something in the nature of a "feeling out" process, as it was immediately followed up by more explosions and aerial actions are the only ones reported from the British section of the front.

From the front in Russia and Galicia little activity of a pronounced sort is reported, such infantry movements as have occurred being isolated affairs. There is no sign that either the Teutonic or the Russian side is ready to institute a general offensive as yet.

GEN. TOWNSHEND DESTROYED

GUNS AND MUNITIONS BEFORE SURRENDERING

LONDON, April 29, 4.45 p. m.--Major General Charles Townshend, commander of the British forces besieged at Kut-el-Amara, Mesopotamia, by Turkish forces since last December, has surrendered. This information was contained in a British official statement issued this afternoon.

The official statement added that Gen. Townshend destroyed all his guns and munitions before surrendering.

General Townshend probably was driven to surrender to avoid starvation of his force. A recent official Turkish communication said the position of the British at Kut-el-Amara was critical, and that they were expecting to receive small supplies of food by aeroplane. An official statement received yesterday from London reported a last effort to send supplies to the garrison had failed. A ship laden with supplies had been sent up the Tigris, but it grounded about four miles east of the city.

Less than a score of miles away, on the banks of the Tigris below the city is a relief army which for months had been attempting to reach the besieged forces of Gen. Townshend. A few weeks ago several victories were announced and hope ran high in England that the mission would succeed. Of late, however, the Turks' resistance has increased and, aided by floods, they have been able to hold the British in check. No official figures have been given out as to the number of troops which set forth from the Persian gulf in November of 1914 on the expedition which has now ended in surrender. Unofficially the number has been estimated as high as 50,000.

For some time after the expedition started out from the Persian gulf, it was steadily successful. It pushed up the Tigris and Euphrates until, in September of 1915, it defeated the Turks in an encounter at Kut-el-Amara, which later was to be the scene of the British surrender. Then the invaders pushed on to within a few miles of Bagdad, their goal. They defeated the Turks, but later the Turks, reinforced, compelled them to retire hastily to Kut-el-Amara.

TEMPORARY HOSPITAL IN FRANCE. ARROW POINTS TO EMILE VANDERBULCKE OF THIS CITY, WHO WAS RECENTLY WOUNDED

Emile Vanderbulcke Wounded, Now in Hospital—Brother is Prisoner in Germany

The above picture is from a photo taken in a temporary hospital somewhere in France and among the injured shown on the picture is a Lowell man, Emile Vanderbulcke, whose wife and two handsome young children reside in Tilden street, this city, the wife conducting a small store in order to support herself and children. The photograph was taken a few weeks ago and was received in this city yesterday, accompanied by a very interesting letter from Mr. Vanderbulcke, who appears under the arrow in the picture.

In his letter Private Vanderbulcke informs his wife that he was injured by a shrapnel shell in France during a fierce battle, and that at the same time his brother, Henri, who is also well known in this city, was either killed or captured by the Germans, for he has had no news from him since the clash. Mrs. Vanderbulcke learned from other sources, however, that her brother-in-law is a war prisoner at Gressen, Germany.

After being injured the Lowell man was removed to a temporary hospital and there, he states, he received the best of treatment. The food was very good and the Red Cross nurses who appear in the background of the photograph did all in their power to comfort and cheer the injured, some of whom suffered most agonizing wounds.

Mr. Vanderbulcke does not give much detail concerning the battle in which he was injured, but states that several hundred French and British soldiers were killed, while four times as many Germans were shot to death. A large number of prisoners was captured on both sides. Pieces of shrapnel which exploded near him almost shattered his right leg. He remained a few weeks in the temporary hospital and later was removed to a permanent hospital not far from Paris. He is now able to walk around and expects to return to the front in a few weeks.

Mrs. Vanderbulcke is also in receipt of a letter from her husband's "war godmother," as they are called in France. A war godmother is a woman who takes a certain number of soldiers under her personal care and she makes it her business to supply them with the necessities of life that they cannot obtain from the government, as well as with luxuries, such as tobacco, cigarettes and other good things. The woman states that she has also under her care Henri Vanderbulcke, a brother of Emile, who is now a prisoner at Gressen, Germany. She writes that she has received several letters from Henri, who states he has no reason to complain of his treatment, but that he would rather be with his regiment.

The war godmother urges the Lowell woman to be patient and also to pray for the speedy recovery of her husband, and she concludes by saying she hopes the treacherous war will be brought to an end soon and that Emile will return to his beloved family in Lowell, Mass. This godmother, who does not divulge her identity, is one of the thousands of wealthy women of France, who spend their time and money for the welfare of the French soldiers, and it is stated that many of them have replaced the men in ammunition factories, performing hard labor in order to supply the soldiers with ammunition.

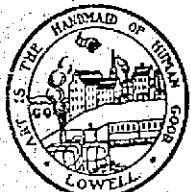

BUILDING BURNED DOWN

DWELLING AT LAKEVIEW TERRACE DESTROYED BY FIRE EARLY THIS MORNING

A building in Lakeview terrace, owned and occupied by Mr. Herbert L. Pratt, a tailor, was destroyed by fire early this morning. At 2.15 a telephone call was sent to Chief Gunther. Quick response was made, but owing to many inconveniences, the building was totally destroyed, at a loss of $2500. Collins & Rogers carried the insurance on the building and contents.

Some time ago when it was suggested that the work of oiling the streets be started about April 15, Commissioner Morse expressed the opinion that it would be economy to wait until the frost was thoroughly out of the ground, and the streets dried up, and he also stated that he thought May 1 would be early enough. At that time, clouds of dust were flying in all directions, and the general appearances were that winter had disappeared and spring had come. But subsequent events have shown that had the oiling been done on or about April 15, a lot of good and expensive oil would have been wasted, the result of spreading it prematurely, and at this writing it is doubtful if conditions will be favorable for May 1. Yesterday's storm upset all calculations as to oiling, and may have interfered with some of the plans for "Clean-Up Week."

The Next Election.

The next elective office to be considered by the municipal council, barring the unforeseen, is that of chairman of the license commission, as the six-year term of John J. Mullane, who was appointed by former Mayor Neenan, under the old form of government, comes to an end with the close of the month of May. The coming election will be the third to take place under the present charter, which provides for the election of the license commissioners by vote of the municipal council, rather than by appointment by the mayor. Messrs. Hanson and Boulger were the two who were elected under the present form of government. It was stated in a newspaper not long ago, that the election of license commissioners is always held back until after the grant of the license for that year, had been made. While it may be a coincidence that such is the case, the granting of the licenses has no connection with the election, inasmuch as the new man could not take office until after the license had been granted. The grant taking place any time prior to the first of May, while the term of office does not expire until June 1. The idea of delaying the election of license commissioner until within a short time of the expiration of the term, is due undoubtedly to the expense incurred when the late Mayor Dimon was in office, after his inauguration appointed Hon. Fisher H. Pearson police commissioner, as the office was then known, although "the term" for which he was making the appointment did not begin until nearly six months later. The mayor was in making an early appointment was in making an early appointment was in making an early appointment.

Knocking His Own Says Political Straws in the Courier-Citizen: "A study of the returns by wards discloses an abnormal number of blanks. One might well venture the suggestion that where an able-bodied citizen hasn't the sense to mark his ballot correctly, the suffrage pass to his wife for a year."

That's rather rough on his brother-republicans, for they did practically all of the voting, correct or otherwise. There were no democratic contests, and only a few democrats went to the caucuses. Some who did, were a few delegates as a whole, and few if any, attempted to split their tickets. Ninety per cent of those who voted were republicans, and the blanks were abnormally large. What's the answer? The statement that suffrage is given to the wife for a year, is quite apropos. It is a well known fact that a large majority of the women who are out for suffrage are the wives and daughters of republicans, while the wives and daughters of democrats, as a rule, are not enthusiastic over the movement.

Therefore, it is apparent, the "republican" girls know what they're doing, when they clamor for a chance to vote.

Inquiry was made and this morning Deputy Downey produced in court a letter from Capt. Burrage of the Nebraska which stated that Molahan was not a member of the crew. Molahan entered a lunch car the other night and after ordering egg sandwiches and coffee and disposing of them refused to settle. The court is of the opinion that the defendant may be silly, but he is not a sailor, and his case was continued until Monday morning in order that he may be placed under observation.

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL

TRUSTEES ENTER VIGOROUS PROTEST AGAINST FORM OF RESOLVE APPROPRIATING $50,000.

Special to the Sun.

STATE HOUSE, Boston, April 29.—The trustees of the Lowell Textile school have entered a vigorous protest against the form of the resolve appropriating $50,000 from the state treasury for the maintenance of the school from July 1, 1917, to July 1, 1921.

This year the way and means committee has adopted a uniform method of dealing with all the textile schools in the state, located at Lowell, Fall River and New Bedford. Each has been allowed a specific appropriation, but in each resolve there has been inserted a provision to the effect: "Provided, that no part of this sum shall be paid until satisfactory evidence has been furnished to the auditor of the commonwealth that an additional sum of not less than ten thousand dollars has been paid to the said trustees by the city of Lowell. The city of Lowell is hereby authorized to raise by tax, or by taxation and pay to said trustees such sum of money, not less than ten thousand dollars, as may be necessary, to secure the amount provided for by this resolve."

The trustees claim that this provision makes the resolve absolutely void, and that they are not bound to accept of their standpoint, because they will not be able to get their money from the city before the first of January, and consequently they would have no state money with which to maintain their school between September first and January first.

Conferees at next held next week. It is understood, at which an attempt will be made to adjust the situation.

Woman Charged With False Statement of Son's Age

Killipe Aggelinas Vaios was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging her with unlawfully making a false statement for the purpose of her son securing employment. Through an interpreter she entered a plea of not guilty and inasmuch as she stated that she is waiting for a certificate of birth of her boy from Greece the case was continued for ten days.

The complaint was made by Dr. J. H. Melancon, of the state board of labor and industries, and it is alleged that the woman in order to get employment for her son was instrumental in the falsification of his birth.

Will Pay His Fine Fred W. Briggs who was in court yesterday and found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and also an addition charge of drunkenness and was fined $100 on the more serious count and $5 for drunkenness, appeared in court this morning to withdraw his appeal.

When John C. Molahan appeared in court the other day on a charge of larceny he said that he was a sailor on the Battleship Nebraska and asked the court to give him a chance. Inquiry was made and this morning Deputy Downey produced in court a letter from Capt. Burrage of the Nebraska which stated that Molahan was not a member of the crew. Molahan entered a lunch car the other night and after ordering egg sandwiches and coffee and disposing of them refused to settle. The court is of the opinion that the defendant may be silly, but he is not a sailor, and his case was continued until Monday morning in order that he may be placed under observation.

A prisoner charged with drunkenness, was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory. One drunkard who was sentenced to three months in jail.

THE FATHER OF WATERS

AREA IN IOWA AND ILLINOIS WHERE THE MISSISSIPPI RUNS DUE WEST

One of the most recent additions to the great topographic atlas of the United States which the United States Geological Survey is constructing is the map of the area known as the Edgington quadrangle, lying west of Rock Island in Iowa and Illinois. This area, which covers about 230 square miles, is nearly bisected by the Mississippi river and taken by itself presents the Father of Waters in a somewhat strange position, for the river flows almost due west across the area. The map shows lower on the north side of the river and Illinois on the south. Immediately west of this area near Muscatine, the stream resumes its easterly flow.

The area within the Edgington quadrangle, back from the bluffs that border the Mississippi, is essentially an agricultural region, although a large part of it is devoted to pasture.

Bluffs 150 to 200 feet in height close to the river except along a portion of the Illinois side, where there is an alluvial flat a quarter to a half a mile in width, which is flooded in extremely high water. On the Iowa side the immediate bank of the river is 10 to 20 feet high, and above this is a narrow terrace of gravel underlain by limestone, bordering the foot of the bluffs. The bluffs on both sides and most of the ravines are heavily timbered. The larger islands in the river are also covered with a heavy growth of timber, in which oaks predominate.

The river has changed but little during the last 25 years, as shown by a comparison with the charts of the Mississippi river commission, made in 1852. The channel is practically the same now as it was then, owing to the facts that the north bank, being partly of limestone, is not easily eroded, that probably a considerable portion of the river bed also is bed-rock, and that submerged dams have been built to keep the river flow in its natural channel.

For many years the water of the river in this section have furnished the material for a thriving business in the manufacture of buttons from mussel shells, and incidentally a few pearls have been obtained. Muscatine is the center of this industry. The United States government has established a biologic station on the Iowa side near Fairport for studying the natural history of the fresh-water mussel and propagating it, with the object of restocking the nearly exhausted beds.

Mississippi river within the area of the Edgington quadrangle is a beautiful stretch of water, flowing placidly at the base of the bluffs through a panorama of wooded islands, a new vista at each turn. The westerly course of the Mississippi in this area is probably the result of the drainage locating itself along the receding border of one of the great prehistoric glaciers or ice sheets. Being forced out of its older channel, which may perhaps lie much farther east, it cut a new channel along a new line crossing drift-covered valleys and covered rock ridges indiscriminately.

LAWRENCE LICENSES

MANY OLD DEALERS DROPPED AND SEVERAL NEW ONES TAKEN ON BY LICENSE BOARD

LAWRENCE, April 29.—The grant of liquor licenses in Lawrence was made yesterday and many of the old dealers were dropped by the license board. It required several sessions of the board to complete agreements. The sessions waxed warm at times and the voices of the commissioners grew so loud that they could be heard outside the meeting room. The new licenses granted and the old ones dropped were as follows:

New licenses—John E. Bartlett, George E. Cuddy, J. C. Callahan, Curtis C. Dearborn, John F. and J. J. Finn, J. C. and T. P. Finigan, J. F. and F. J. Lincoln, Edmund & Foley, T. and D. O'Connor, C. J. Owens, A. Sciaccia, John Sheehan, William Schreiber, Sullivan & Tulley.

Those dropped—George L. Black, Barnett Cohen, George Hazeltine, John H. Kennedy, William H. Bell, Frank E. McDonough, German Central club.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

House Advances Juvenile Bill— Provides Punishment for Neglectful Parents

BOSTON, April 29.—The Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday ordered to a third reading the so-called "Delinquent Children" bill, which if it becomes law, will result in a decided change in the handling of the courts of juvenile offenders. Briefly stated, the bill provides that parents may be punished if the evidence in the trial of a juvenile shows that either father or mother, or both, have "aided and abetted" or "connived with" the defendant and are thus responsible for his or her delinquency; it gives the courts the right to exclude the public at the trial of juveniles and it further provides special sessions for jury trials of juveniles in the superior court.

Under the present law the court cannot punish a parent even if the evidence shows that the father or mother was responsible for the child's delinquency. The bill passed yesterday gives the lower court this power and also the higher court, providing an appeal is taken.

The bill was bitterly opposed, largely by the Boston members.

Bill Product of "Theorists"
Mr. Fitzgerald of Boston said the bill took from court officers the power to not prosecute, and that there was no sense in probation officers interfering with family affairs as they do now. The legislature ought not to be influenced by social uplifters.

Mr. Young of Westfield declared that no separate judge would be required and there would be no extra expense. There was no possibility that an innocent parent could be punished, he said, and guilty cases ought to be held accountable.

Mr. Sullivan of Boston said that the commission which recommended the bill were theorists, and Mr. Gilpin of Boston declared that the bill was inhuman in making it possible to drag mothers into court to prove them guilty of neglecting their children.

Mr. Abbott of Haverhill said that the two previous speakers wanted lawlessness on the part of juvenile offenders, and that the bill proposed to offset bad home training. As a lawyer who had had many juvenile cases he was sure that in 19 cases out of 20 of juvenile delinquency the parents are directly responsible.

The standing vote on ordering the bill to a third reading was 19 yeas to 58 nays. Mr. Sullivan of Boston secured a rollcall and there were 11 yeas to 63 nays.

Tabernacle Veto Upheld
Mr. Greenwood led an unsuccessful fight to have the Billy Sunday Tabernacle bill passed over the veto of Gov. McCall. The governor was sustained, however, 159 to 60.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto of His Excellency?"

The house refused to reject, although recommended to do so by the committee on ways and means, the bill to provide for the testing of poultry by the trustees of the Massachusetts Agricultural college.

Next came a fight on the bill for the appointment of dog officers and the impounding of stray dogs, a measure said to be designed to encourage the sheep industry.

The claim that the sheep industry in Massachusetts had declined because of the many dogs in the state was answered by the argument that the condition of the wool market had discouraged the raising of sheep in Massachusetts and nothing else.

After an extended debate the house rejected the bill by an almost unanimous vote.

The judiciary committee reported a bill to limit arrest on mesne process and to provide for supplementary proceedings in civil actions.

The committee on social welfare, by dissent of Messrs. Brennan of Natick and Gillis of Boston, reported a bill to amend the law relative to employment of women and minors by providing that the state board of labor and industries shall determine what employments are seasonal.

Mr. James presented a petition from the mayor of Cambridge that certain appointments of the commissioner of public safety be confirmed. It was referred to the committee on rules.

Force Milk Payment
The legislative committee on public health and agriculture, sitting jointly, have voted to report a bill designed to insure prompt payment to milk producers by contractors.

The bill provides that the contractor shall make payments for milk every two weeks or monthly and further requires the milk dealers to file a bond. At the hearing on the bill several weeks ago farmers testified that some contractors never paid for milk. Instances were cited where farmers had failed financially because contractors had refused to pay what was justly due.

Bar Trading Stamps
Senator James F. Cavanagh, before the house committee on rules of the Massachusetts legislature yesterday, advocated admission of a bill to prohibit sale or distribution of trading stamps or similar devices.

Anson M. Lyman, representing the Merchants' Legal Stamp company, opposed admission of the petition. He contended that the supreme court decision cited by Senator Cavanagh does not alter the situation with respect to the use of trading stamps in Massachusetts and that this bill would be open to the charge of unconstitutionality, as already sustained by court decisions in this state.

No action was taken by the committee.

Black North Highway
The Black North Highway bill, for a state road between Dracut and Methuen, was passed to a third reading in the house. Representatives Colburn of Lowell and Bunting of Lawrence, who have made a hard fight for the measure ever since it was introduced by William D. Sobier of Beverly, chairman of the highway commission, were pinned for a fight on it yesterday. It went along on the reading of the calendar with no opposition manifest. Part of this condition was due to the fact that the ways and means committee had voted favorably on the bill and Representative Murphy of Lowell, a member of that body, was in charge of the report.

Jewett Wins Gavel
During the temporary absence of the Hon. Channing H. C53, speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives, Victor F. Jewett of Lowell was called to the chair to preside over the deliberations of that body.

MR. AND MRS. LEPINE RETURN
Mr. and Mrs. George Lepine, who were married in this city last Sunday, returned from their wedding tour yesterday, after visiting relatives and friends in Boston, Providence, R. I., and other important centers, and last evening they were tendered a reception at the home of the bride's uncle, Charles A. Delaronde, 128 Lilley avenue.

The affair was attended by only the immediate relatives of the couple and a most pleasant evening was spent. A delightful musical program was given by the Delaronde three-piece orchestra, composed of Mr. Delaronde, cornet; Miss Beatrice Delaronde, piano; and Miss Ruth Delaronde, violin. Others who took part in the musical program were Mr. and Mrs. George Lepine, Henri Lepine, Severin Hebert, E. J. Laroche and others. Refreshments were served and the guests departed at a seasonable hour. Mr. and Mrs. Lepine will make their home at 139 Alster street. Mr. Lepine is the moving picture operator at the Merrimack Square theatre.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Today is the last chance offered the theatregoers of Lowell and the surrounding towns to see "The Trial of the Queen of Sheba," that gigantic dramatic success which has been played to packed houses all the week and which has been unanimously voted the best attraction given in Lowell in many seasons. There are some good seats left for both performances and they should be secured early in order to avoid disappointment.

Next week will be the farewell week of the Emerson players in Lowell and for a closing attraction, the management will present that brilliant comedy sensation "Marrying Money," which comes direct from a year's run at the Princess theatre in New York city and which has been enthusiastically received by a "whole of a lot." New York and Chicago audiences went wild over this play and Boston audiences will rave over it too when it is presented in the hub next season at two dollar prices.

"Marrying Money" tells the story of Theodore Vanderpool, a poor member of a rich family who is seeking marriage with an heiress. Mildred Niles is the daughter of a financier who has lost money heavily and, like Vanderpool, seeks a match with a wealthy partner. They meet and believing that the other is really wealthy, decide to marry. Then the fun begins and it is fast and furious from the start to the finish, the authors having woven together a series of situations around a group of characters that bustle buttons to all sides.

Herbert Hayes will be seen as Theodore Vanderpool while Mildred Niles will be portrayed by Ann O'Day. Joe Crohan, Rachel Crown, Walter von Bookman, Edward Nannery, Richard Barry, Frank Wright, Forrest Gordon, May Gerald and all the favorites will be seen in splendid characters.

Being a new play, there is a big demand for seats for the twelve performances and owing to this demand, patrons are advised by the management to make reservations early. The players are certain to be given a great reception all the week and as there are no other attractions of any of the performances who secure seats early and for as early in the week as possible are certain not to be disappointed.

Make reservations now. Phone 251. If you are arranging parties it is well to secure blocks of seats early as it is the point to the Opera House breaking to "smithereens" all former success records in Lowell.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
The Fadettes of Boston will be in first place at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening, at the big Sunday performances. This is practically a guarantee that everybody who attends will get his full money's worth for the orchestra is an exceptionally capable one, and is always sure to play likeable music. The programs which Mrs. Caroline B. Nichols, the leader, offers are invariably a near mixture of classic with popular numbers, so that all musical tastes are touched. Josephine Carr, one of the best of singers, will give her repertoire of new song numbers, and Bogard and Nicoll will sing and yodel. In addition there will be three new acts and six motion pictures.

A real novelty will lead off the bill at the theatre next week. The California orange packers, who for five times in succession have won the championship of the state of sunshine, will furnish that novelty. The Orange Growers' association of California annually holds a packing contest, and award prizes for the most efficient packers. The four who have won that contest so many times that they are now ineligible, are Misses Louise Long and Ethel Hale, and Messrs. Orville Rogers and Leo La Crose. It was suggested that their accomplishments would make good vaudeville material, and they have acted upon the suggestion. A short film showing the orange packing by the gloved pickers in California opens this act, and it further shows how the fruit is washed, sorted and placed in wrapping paper ready to be packed. Men are employed in making the crates, and girls place them in the boxes. The experts work so rapidly that it is really confusing to the eye.

Dr. NAUGHTON will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, MONDAY, MAY 1st, 1916, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 7.00 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

The act will conclude with a real contest. A lecturer, Helen Jessie Moore, explains all of the details of the industry. Many other excellent attractions, will also be presented at the Owl today.

"What Happened to Ruth," a comedy satire, is said to be one of the wildest, brightest, prettiest of one-act pieces placed in vaudeville in many a day. It will be played by Norman R. Field and Mary E. Daniel, two capers who have figured in the production of many attractive little skits.

The Saxo Sextet, as the name might indicate, are six saxophone soloists who have been figured in one of the biggest of recent musical comedy productions, and who are the Three Mark with brothers, Sharp, Leads and Lewis. Frank Mullane is a prince of story tellers. Mullane, with his facile manner, his great fund of witticisms, and his striking personal appearance will unquestionably secure a large share of the audience. He is accompanied by Adelaido Harland who will give his little satire with music, named "Evolution—1880-1920."

Good seats for all performances may be secured at the box office in advance. The telephone number is 25.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
After today you will be too late to see the excellent bill of high class motion picture features which have attracted the attention of the Merrimack square theatre during the two days just past. Never before, and it can be said fearlessly, did John Barrymore, the celebrated comedian, appear in a funnier role than this one in the five act interpretation of "The Red Widow." Here he appears in the role of Cleopatra Hannibal Butte, and American corset salesman who, on his honeymoon, gets mixed up with a bunch of blood-thirsty, bomb-throwing nihilists in Russia and is chosen to dynamite the august person of the czar, how he is forced to pose as the husband of another woman, and how he finally escapes to the land of the play. Hazel Dawn will also be seen today for the last time in her success, "My Lady Ince."

The principal attraction at the continuous Sunday concert at the Merrimack Square theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening, will be George A. Lee's famous and immortal comedy of college life, "Just Out of College," which is fresh from the makers. This amusing and clever play will be shown in five acts with Eugene O'Brien in the leading role. Many other pictures, also of the enjoyable nature, will make up the other part of the program. The Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening.

OWL THEATRE
"The Family Cupboard," a picturization of the famous stage success of the same name, will be shown at the Owl theatre this afternoon.

THE ACRES OF HOUSE CLEANING
The pain and soreness caused by brushes, over-exertion and straining during house cleaning time are soothed away by Sloan's Liniment. No need to suffer this agony. Just apply Sloan's Liniment to the sore spots, rub only a little. In a short time the pain leaves, you rest comfortably and enjoy a refreshing sleep. One grateful user writes: "Sloan's Liniment is worth its weight in gold." Keep a bottle on hand, use it against all Soreness, Neuralgia and Bruises. Kills pain. Ask at your druggist.

and evening. Holbrook Blinn, the powerful dramatic star, is seen in the lead role of this five part photoplay. Many other excellent attractions, will also be presented at the Owl today.

THE INCOME TAX

Bill Declared to Be in the Interest of the Rich

BOSTON, April 29.—The hearing yesterday before the house ways and means committee of the Massachusetts legislature on the income tax bill reported by the committee on taxation yesterday revealed a wide and active opposition to the measure. So many wanted to be heard that it was announced that another session would be held Thursday.

The bill provides for a 5 per cent tax on the income from taxable intangible property, a tax of 1½ per cent on earned incomes in excess of $2000, and a 3 per cent tax on profits from the purchase or sale of securities.

Asa T. Newhall of Lynn, president of the Massachusetts Assessors' association, opened the attack. "I believe the principle of taxing income is wrong," he asserted. "I don't believe the city of Lynn will derive one-half the income from taxation as it is getting at the present if this bill goes through."

"Where is the state going to get the money to reimburse the cities and towns for the loss of income under this bill? It means an increase in the state tax."

Representative Mildram said that the bill was more a measure of exemptions than an income proposition, and declared there would be a shifting of the burden to the taxpayers of the commonwealth as a whole.

Gifford Attacks Andrews
Senator Charles L. Gifford contended that the bill was the product of some "late yesterday afternoon" rain, and said, "Unfortunately always has made public opinion and certain legislative measures."

Senator Gifford said that he never saw such a strong lobby at work in his life as the lobby which seeks to influence this bill through the legislature. He said that Charles A. Andrews, the former deputy tax commissioner, who now is president of the Massachusetts Tax association, and who was present, should be back in the state house working for all the people instead of the few rich ones.

Representative William O. Souther Jr. said that if the bill was passed it would mean the ruin of many real estate men. Mr. Andrews said he wished to rise to a point of personal privilege, as he had been unjustly attacked. He declared that he is being paid by any person for his assistance to the committee on taxation. Joseph G. Handford, an assessor of New Bedford, said that every member of the state assessors' organization is opposed to the bill. He said he believed that 10 per cent of the people would be ruined by the bill, if it passed.

passed, should include a compulsory return.

Scores the Opposition
Thomas G. Nye, an assessor of Brockton, said that the whole question resolved itself into the problem of providing sufficient revenue without placing a burden upon anybody, but that the bill would do neither.

Representative Drury then said that the bill was not supported at all by the personal attacks and objections without reasons. He said that Prof. Chas. J. Bullock of Harvard, who received nothing for his work, was one of the many authorities on taxation consulted, and that surely he is not a man who would lower himself to advocate class legislation in favor of the rich. "The bill," he said, "is the result of recommendations of two democratic governors and one republican governor, and is favored alike by democratic and republican legislators."

SNOW HAS VANISHED

DEPTH OF THREE OR FOUR INCHES FELL—THIS THE LATEST FOR 27 YEARS

There is hardly any evidence of yesterday's snow storm in this city today despite the fact that about three inches deep fell over the city during the latter part of Thursday night and yesterday. According to the weatherman, the latest date for any appreciable fall of snow for 27 years was yesterday.

The storm started late Thursday night with an April shower, and in the early hours the rain turned into snow flakes, which fell constantly until late yesterday afternoon, rain turning to the snow occasionally during the day. The fields retained the snow more than the streets did, but at noon today all had disappeared under the strong rays of the sun.

According to the figures of the Locks & Canals Co. between three and four inches of snow had fallen up to last evening and this means a record for this time of the year. Last evening the snow shifted to a cold, drizzling rain, the clouds clearing about eight o'clock.

BOY ADMITS MURDER

EDGAR HETTINGER SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED TO KILLING OF MRS. MIDDLETON

CHICAGO, April 29.—Edgar Hettinger, 19 years old, has confessed to the murder of Mrs. Agnes Middleton, a widow, 41 years old, according to the police today. The police version of the confession is that Hettinger killed the woman on the night of April 4th in her flat on the west side, first striking her on the head with a hammer and then slashing her throat with a razor. Robbery was the motive, he said.

Gustave Deutschman, a violinist, who lived in the flat with Mrs. Middleton, had been arrested on suspicion. The average weekly earnings of women in industries in the United States is $3.24.

CY'S RECORD LOOKS SAFE

MATHÉWSON ONLY VETERAN IN GAME WHO HAS A CHANCE TO EQUAL YOUNG'S FEATS

Cy Young's sterling pitching record may endure all time. On the pitcher in the game today, Christy Mathewson, has a chance to equal it. But the sun seems to be setting on Matty's major league pitching life, and, wonderful as is his work, it cannot compare with that of the old "war horse."

Young quit the game along in 1910 or 1911 and retired to his farm after having taken part in 819 combats. Of these he won 555, giving him a grand pitching average around 6.20 for the entire period.

At the end of the 1915 season, Mathewson's record showed that over a stretch of 16 years under the big canvas he had won 365, pitched 305 games and pitched in 344 games. To equal Young's record in games pitched, Mathewson must remain in the majors at least six years longer, a seeming impossibility.

Mathewson has won 365 and lost 185 of his games. The others did not figure in his won or lost column. Matty's grand average to date is .665. Even could he be by some miracle remain in the major league spotlight until he has pitched more games than Young, it is beyond the range of probability that he win 60 per cent. of the remaining games. And that is just about what the weakening arm must accomplish to beat out the record of Young.

When one compares Young's record with that of Mathewson and the other great pitchers of today there comes the full knowledge of what an amazing twister was "old Cy"—a hurler whose like may never again illumine—and glorify—the baseball world.

CONNIE MACK'S PUPILS

MANY ATHLETIC CHAMPIONS NOW STARRING WITH OTHER TEAMS OF BIG LEAGUES

Connie Mack's champions are scattered, but they are still playing ball. In one important particular the famous Athletics have differed from other champion teams of the past. When they left the scene of their triumphs they didn't slide down hill. Three of the prominent contenders for the American league flag—Chicago, Boston and New York—are relying upon pupils of Connie Mack to keep them in the running.

Eddie Collins is the captain of the White Sox and his star both on offense and defense. The acquisition of Jack Barry made a champion team of the Red Sox and with Speaker gone, he stands today their greatest player.

The Yankees are on top in the junior major league and to Frank Baker's credit not only as a batsman, but as a fielding star, a great measure of their success is due.

And the pitchers? Well, last Wednesday the Yankees went into the lead, and Bob Shawkey pitched and won the game and the next day, "Chief" Bender, pitching for the Phillies, won the game that sent that team ahead in the National. And Fielder Jones is counting upon Eddie Plank to make the Browns dangerous.

No, the Athletics stars aren't bright. Connie cut loose from them at the top of their careers.

RED SOX CHAMPIONS

MANY STARS OF 1912 WORLD'S SERIES HAVE DROPPED TO THE MINERS

The Red Sox roster is some different today than when they took the world's championship from the New York Nationals in 1912. One Wood, who won thirty-four games and lost five that year, has refused to sign a contract. Wood, for that matter, has been of little value to the Red Sox since making this remarkable record. Hugh Bell, who also pitched against the Giants in 1912, have gone. Steve Yerkes, the second baseman, is with the Cubs. Jake Stahl, the manager and first baseman, has retired from the game. Walter, the once brilliant shortstop, is with Hartford in the Eastern league. Speaker has been sold to the Cleveland while Engle and Ball are out of the league. The Red Sox still retain Hooper, Lewis, Gardner, Cady, Carigan and Hendrick, who took part in that memorable series. Of the Giants who succumbed to the Beaneaters in 1912, McGraw has parted with Devore, Snodgrass, Murray, Herzog, McCormick, Shaffer, Chief Meyers, Marquard, Wilson, Becker, Crandall and Ames.

LOWELL BEATEN

Bridgeport Took Opening Game by Score of 6 to 2—Light Hitting

Special to The Sun

BRIDGEPORT, April 29.—Harry Lord's Lowell Grays got away to a good start in the first inning of yesterday's game but could not keep up the good work. Bridgeport caught up with the procession by scoring two runs in the second inning, and put the necessary tally over in the fourth. Three superfluous scores rolled over the plate in the eighth, making the score 6 to 2.

There was a slight fall of rain at the start of the pastime, but all signs of showers had vanished by the third inning. It was a great day for the pitchers, with the batters all clothed in alibis by reason of their unfamiliarity with pitching so early in the season.

Marty Walsh, the big right-hander of Ball's squad, started poorly in the first stanza, but after that he was invincible. He showed a tendency to wildness, passing Stimpson, the first man up. Manager Lord got an infield single in trying to sacrifice, and Walsh went on with none down. Briggs took a life when Stewart dropped Thompson's throw to nip Lord going down to second. Outs by Barrows and Munn brought in the only two runs scored by Lowell.

Bridgeport did business in the second when Moshier drove a pass Thompson popped one to Kihullen, but Thompson stepped up on Crook's hard drive, and Moshier went to second. Stewart poked a long two-bagger to left center, scoring the two runners, but died trying to stretch his blow into a triple.

In the fourth Byrne led off with a single through shortstop and stole second while Kihullen looked for the ball. Moshier fanned and with Thompson up, Byrne went to third on a passed ball. He scored on Thompson's stiff slam, which Torphy relayed to first for the second out. Crook died over the same.

Bridgeport's three in the eighth settled the issue, and the fans began to leave the park. Stewart breezed, but Walsh was walked, going all the way to third on Edwards' smash for two corners. Gaudette poked one to Torphy who returned to the plate, but Kihullen failed to catch, and Walsh, who had been safe by umpire Innis, Edwards went to third and Gaudette to second on the play, and scored when Manager Ball drove one safely into the outfield. Moshier drove what looked like a hit straight into the hands of Barrows, who doubled Ball at second, ending the inning.

In the ninth, Lowell was given a gift single when Byrne and Stewart left his puny fly drop between them. The runner got no farther than first, however, Walsh putting on steam and ending the game in short order.

RESULTS OF HEXATHLON

Results of the international senior and junior hexathlon which was conducted during the first two weeks in March have been received at the local Y.M.C.A. San Francisco won the class "A" senior; Newport army and navy Y.M.C.A. the class "B" senior; and El Paso Texas Y.M.C.A. the class "C" senior.

The Lowell senior team finished in the 43rd place in class "B", finishing third among the associations of Massachusetts that competed. Springfield was first; Newton second, Lowell third.

A class in the boys' hexathlon was won by Wilkesbarre, with 20,367 points. Lowell finished 24th with 13,133 points. Class "B" was won by Jordan, Ont. with 12,593 points; class "C" by Youngstown, O. with 6,538 points.

One hundred and twenty-seven Y.M.C.A. competed in the senior event, furnishing competition for 4561 individuals; 10,002 boys competed in the three classes of the boys' hexathlon. Some of the foreign associations in China and India are yet to be heard from as regards their reports.

COLIN MCLEAN DEAD

BALTIMORE, Md., April 29.—Colin McLean, one of the largest and best known contractors on the Atlantic seaboard, died at his home here today of pneumonia. He was born in Nova Scotia 22 years ago. Among his notable undertakings were the Statue of Liberty and Brooklyn bridge. He also built the longest timber bridge in the world, that over Albemarle sound.

WORCESTER TEAM

Revival of Baseball as Result of Change in Management

Special to The Sun

WORCESTER, April 29.—With the new owners, a new manager, and in a new league, everything points toward a revival of baseball in Worcester that will bring the game back on the same plane it was a couple of years ago, when Worcester was the backbone of the New England league. The new Eastern league was newly needed, as was a change in ownership to revive the game here.

First of all, a few words about President Edward F. Smith, Business Manager John McMahon and Manager Billy Hamilton. The latter, a wonderful hitter and base-runner—the Ty Cobb of his day in the big show, and the idol of the Boston fans—needs little introduction. He has piloted New England teams, and even without strong financial backing, he turned out hustling, aggressive teams. Hamilton will have a free hand with the team, and should be up in the race.

On the face of things now, it looks as though he had gathered a crack infield, good outfield, was strong behind the bat, but a bit weak in the box. President Smith is one of the most popular young business men in Worcester, with hundreds of warm friends who are pulling hard for his success in his baseball venture. The "Boosters" banquet at the Bay State hotel, at which a check for the cost of two complete uniforms, around $200, was turned over to President Smith, was proof positive of his friends' feeling toward Mr. Smith and his team, "the Boosters."

John McMahon, or "Jack Mack," as he is better known to followers of sports, is a clean, square-jawed individual whose word is as good as his bond. Mack's best friends and warmest admirers are those who have known him longest, which is pretty near the acid test.

There seems no reason in the world why the new owners should not be very successful. Nearly 4000 paid admissions at the exhibition games with Providence, Patriots day in a city not known for its strength for exhibition games, and in the face of a strong competitive card in the Holy Cross-Pennsylvania contest, shows the fans are ripe for the new Eastern league.

Hope on the Team

Manager Hamilton has an experienced backstop in Fred Tyler, brother of the Braves' southpaw twirler. Tyler was secured from the Syracuse team of the New York state league, where he hit .301 in 102 games last season. He is a big chap, weighing about 175 pounds and standing 5 feet 11 1/2 inches. He will do the bulk of the work behind the bat. Otto Fries, a Clinton youngster, the town of Manager Hamilton, and Phil Carroll, a Bronx youth sent here by John Gangel, are the other catchers. Both are big, husky young fellows, with good whips, who show worlds of promise.

The pitching staff is not yet definite what Manager Hamilton hopes for, but he hopes to strengthen it any day now, having lines out for an experienced twirler. Van Dyke, the veteran left hander of last year, Herring who looked good against Providence, and who was in the Colonial league last year, and Scanlon, well known to Worcester fans, are the other regulars. Scudder of Manchester, and Hehir, sent here by Newark, complete the list.

The infield with four clean fielding, fast-thinking, snappy workmen, looks mighty fast. Halstein, who had an off year with Lynn last season, hitting but .235, is at first. Halstein is fast and has always previously hit around .270. Capt. Gus Gaudette has been shifted to second and is working around the key-stone sack with Jimmy Conney in as pretty a fashion as could be asked for.

Gardella hit .270 and Conney .240 last year. Johnny Strands, who two years ago before his jump to the Fenix hit .249, is at third. Strands looks better than ever and should have a great year. Lou Courtney who clouted the ball for 240 in 68 games in the Colonial league last year is a star utility man and can play any place in the infield except first base.

The outfield looks as good as any in the league. The speedy Pat McNees is in left, with Earl Potteiger in center, and a newcomer from the Western league, McChesney in right. Maloney hit .251 with Lewiston last season. Potteiger, after hovering around the .200 mark all year, was injured and then slumped in his hitting until he touched .372. McChesney gathered a batting average of .293 and looks capable of winning many a twirler this year. Mac is an ideal clean-up hitter and will bat fourth.

All in all the infield and outfield, and first string catcher's position are filled with men who have delivered the goods in the past, and if the pitching staff holds up, Hamilton's men should be well up in the race.

DIAMOND GOSSIP

Spalding park will not be dry for the opening game, May 10, unless we have some sunshine soon.

The quarters of the Lowell baseball club in the Hildreth building were deserted today after about two weeks of rushing business.

Manager Neal Ball of the Bridgeport club is after an outfielder, an infielder and a catcher for his team.

Manager Lou Pieper of Lynn yesterday handed yellow slips to Catcher Bob Foster, Pitchers Jewett and Brennan and Infielder Harkins.

The entire fan going to celebrate "Daddy" Murphy by attending the New London-New Haven game on May 26. Norwich likes its native son and is taking this means to help him along as manager of the New Haven club.

Though Fritz Matzel, the clever New York Yarker, has been in the American league for nearly three years, he never made a hit off Walter Johnson until this week, when he cracked out two in one game.

Of the 14 players on the Lawrence roster, but one is inexperienced. He is Ty Murphy, the promising young backstop whose baseball activities have been confined to semi-professional teams in his home town. Of the other 13 players it was with Lawrence last year.

Neal Ball, manager of the Bridgeport club, is a native of that city. As soon as his release was obtained from Toronto he took charge of the team and put the squad through a workout Thursday afternoon. The negotiations for the team are underway for a month, but Toronto at first refused to listen to the offers of Owner Harry Cornett. It is said that the Toronto management asked $2500 for the former Cleveland star.

Coombs and Bender, formerly with Connie Mack's majors, opposed each other in the Cub-Philles game yesterday. Each of the veterans was hit hard, Bender lasting seven innings and the "Iron Man" being jerked in the sixth. Brooklyn, the team with which Coombs started, won, 5 to 3.

Duffy Lewis, of world's series fame, broke up the Red Sox-New York battle in the eleventh yesterday with a home run clout over the fence.

The Eastern league teams are starting the season with the following managers all of whom have had valuable experience in baseball and should be capable of producing good results:

Lowell—Harry D. Lord.
Portland—Hugh Duffy.
Lawrence—Jesse C. Burkett.
Lynn—Louis P. Pieper.
Worcester—William J. Hamilton.
Springfield—John Flynn.
Hartford—Charles Wagner.
New Haven—Daniel Murphy.
New London—H. Eugene McCann.
Bridgeport—Neal Ball.

"The only way to advance in baseball is to pick some goal beyond your present ability," says Lee Magee of the Highlanders. "If you are batting at .280, work to hit .300. If you are batting at .300, shoot for .320. I do not believe a good player should be satisfied with his game. There are always weaknesses to be corrected and points to be picked up. The minute a player becomes satisfied with his ability, he is about through, and ready to start the other way."

Connie Mack does not expect to win the American league pennant this season, but there is no question but that he hopes to spring a surprise and finish in the first or at the head of the second division. Experts say that before the season is over Mack will have his youngsters working together in such a way that one of the long-headed fellows, and those who figured his down and out a year ago may awaken one year hence and find out what a mistake they made.

This Speaker seems to be the tonic the Indians needed. The team has been playing far beyond their "paper" form and the "home town folks" are rooting for them to keep it up.

The members of the Lowell Textile baseball team left this city at noon today for Ashburnham where they meet the Cushing academy team this afternoon.

HELD LOWELL NIGHT

CANDLEPIN TOURNAMENT HELD ON THE CASINO ALLEYS IN LYNN—ONE RECORD MADE

Last night was "Lowell Night" at the annual duck and candlepin tournament held on the Casino alleys and the Lowell bowlers made an excellent showing. One new tournament record was made when the Crescent five of this city hit the maples for 1535 against the duck pins.

The night's high scores in the candle pins were made by Walter Jewett of this city in the individual competition with 216, by Gangi and Ayer of Winthrop for two-men teams with 636; by Gangi, Howatt and Burden of Winthrop for the three-men teams with 934 and by the Winthrop team in the five-man competition with 1483.

"Ladies' Night," also was observed. Miss Loretta McChesney of Lowell, proved the best individual in both candle pins and duck pins with a score of 246 for the candles and 267 for the ducks. Paired with Mrs. Kelman, also of Lowell, she helped set a new high mark for the double candle pin teams with 502.

Against the duckpins, the high scores for the night were made by Johnson of Lowell in the individual tournament, with 336; by Craibe and Martel of Lowell for the two-men teams, with 649; Lebrun and Donohoe rolled a total of 644 for second place; by Myrick, Craibe and Ayer for three-men teams, with 959; Conrannon, McDermott and Johnson totaled 925, and by the Crescent team for five-men teams, with 1526.

In the women's duckpins, Miss Houshman and Miss Bourgeois of Lowell rolled 539, while in the competition between the three women on Miss Bourgeois, Mrs. Kelman and Miss McChesney scored 759. The Crescent team of five women made the highest mark in their class, with 1211.

WANTS LAVIGNE

Jesse Burkett is After Lowell Catcher—Players to Be Dropped

Before many more games are played by the Lowell team on its trip through the southern part of the Eastern circuit, it is very probable that Manager Harry Lord will reduce the ranks of the team by farming out or selling some of his players. These were the instructions given to him by Owner Roach before the team departed Thursday.

Arthur Lavigne, of New York, who did not sign his contract until the eleventh hour, is one of the players labelled to go. The local club is well fixed for catchers, in fact it has too many first string men. Either Lavigne or Joe Kihullen is capable of doing the bulk of the work for the team.

With Greenhalge as a second string man only one of the aforementioned players is needed and indications point to the selling of Lavigne.

Jesse Burkett of Lawrence is out strong for Lavigne and it looks as though he will go to the down river camp. Burkett's only reliable catcher is an inexperienced youngster named Murphy, who was picked up from some semi-professional team. If Lavigne is procured from the Lowell club he will be played regularly and Murphy will fill the bill as helper.

President Roach stated today that Lavigne and one or two other players will probably go. "I left everything with Manager Lord," he said, "but have not heard from him since Thursday. He is going to get rid of some of the players but that is all I know." Both Lawrence and Lowell are scheduled to play in Connecticut all next week and a deal may be put through in the meantime.

Lavigne played with Lowell two years ago and was sold at the close of the season to the Memphis club of the Southern association, but instead of reporting to that team he jumped to the Erie league where he played for a time. He joined

OLSON IN LEAD

Tops National League
Batters—Miller Heads
Am. League Sluggers

CHICAGO, April 20.—Ivan Olson of the Brooklyn Nationals, with 545 and Ward Miller of the St. Louis Americans with 509 are the leading batters in the two major leagues, according to averages compiled here today. Ty Cobb is beginning to move upward among American league batters. The figures show that Cobb, though out of recent games because of illness, has increased his average from .281 as shown last week, to .309. This average ranks him 18th in the list. Grady of Cleveland leads the batters in total bases with 21 and is tied with Felsch of Chicago in home runs, at two each. Felsch leads in runs scored with ten. Speaker, Cleveland, and Baker, New York, are ahead in stolen bases with four each.

The following are "three hundred" hitters:

W. Miller, St. Louis, 509; Numa-maker, New York, 337; Speaker, Cleveland, 330; Janvyn, Boston, 333; Gedeon, New York, 331; Schalk, Chicago, 330; Henry, Washington, 333; Hellman, Detroit, 318; Smith, Cleveland, 315; Hobbitt, Boston, 316; Gilhooly, New York, 316; Magee, New York, 316; Shanks, Washington, 318; Henrikson, Boston, 319; Pratt, St. Louis, 309; Gardner, Boston, 304; Felsch, Chicago, 302; Cobb, Detroit, 300.

The ten leading pitchers in the American league, ranked according to earned runs:

W. Miller, Cleveland, one won, none lost; Leonard, Boston, two won, none lost; Markie, New York, two won, none lost; Ruth, Boston, four won, none lost; Fisher, New York, two won, none lost; Nahors, Philadelphia, one won, one lost; Faber, Chicago, three won, none lost; Coughlin, Cleveland, two won, none lost; I. Coveleskie, Detroit, two won, none lost; S. Coveleskie, Cleveland, one won, one lost.

In the National League, Max Fleck, Chicago, and Heinie Groh, Cincinnati, lead in runs scored with ten each, the former in ten games. Groh has most total bases, 22. Speaker, Chicago, leads in home runs, with two, and Chase, Cincinnati, and Carey, Pittsburgh, are ahead in stolen bases with five each. The Nationals "three hundred" batters are: Olson, Brooklyn, 545; Doolan, Chicago, 500; Mollwitz, Cincinnati, 462; Chase, Cincinnati, 455; Compton, Boston, 412; Daubert, Brooklyn, 397; Mowrey, Brooklyn, 355; G. Burns, New York, 378; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, 375; Kauff, New York, 364; Flack, Chicago, 361; Groh, Cincinnati, 351; Konetchy, Boston, 348; Sader, Chicago, 333; Paskert, Philadelphia, 333; Collins, Boston, 332; Nichol, Philadelphia, 323; Beall, Cincinnati, 323; Bariden, New York, 333; Zimmerman, Chicago, 325; Yerkes, Chicago, 320; Clarke, Cincinnati, 315; Griffith, 313; Gonzales, St. Louis, 305; E. Burns, Philadelphia, 300.

The ten leading pitchers, ranked according to earned runs:

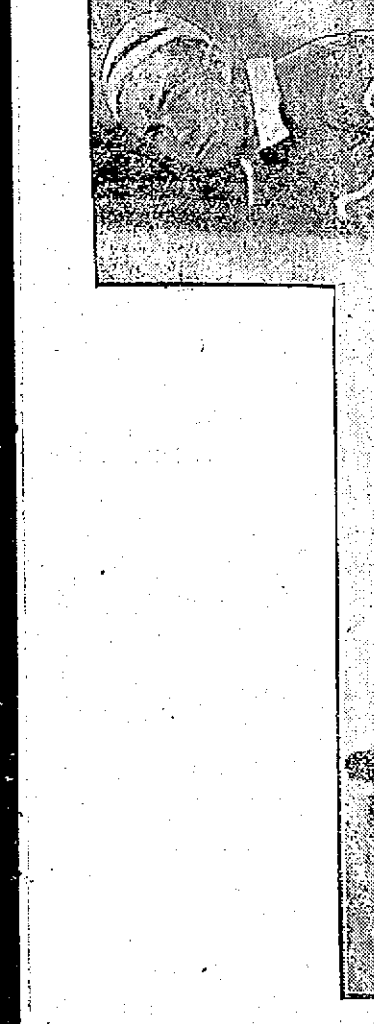

W. Miller, St. Louis, one won, one lost; McConell, Chicago, two won, one lost; Kautlehner, Pittsburgh, one won, two lost; Tesreau, New York, one won, one lost; Schneider, Cincinnati, two won, one lost; Rudolph, Boston, two won, one lost; Dean, St. Louis, one won, one lost; Toney, Cincinnati, one won, one lost; Alexander, Philadelphia, two won, one lost; S. Smith, Brooklyn, one won, one lost.

YALE VS. U. OF PENN.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 23.—With weather conditions promising to be excellent, Yale looked confidently toward its ball game with University of Pennsylvania this afternoon. This is a return game, Yale having played and beaten Pennsylvania at Philadelphia last week.

THREE BOAT RACES
ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 23.—Early weather conditions were favorable for the three boat races between Navy and the University of Pennsylvania over the Severn river course this afternoon. Particular interest centers in the varsity race, as both crews will compete in the contest for the Childs cup at Philadelphia next month.

In addition to the varsity race, Navy's second crew will row against Pennsylvania's second eight and the Navy fourth class crew will compete with the Pennsylvania freshmen.

AT ROSE JORDAN HARTFORD'S

Mrs. Rose Jordan Hartford has just returned from New York and reports that the big city is a blaze of glory as far as millinery is concerned and the fads and fancies in smart sport hats would crack your eye to see them. She says: "The picture and model hats are dreams and there is an almost endless variety to select from, and as usual, we selected a large variety of the most striking trimmed and untrimmed hats. To my mind the spring and summer creations never were as chic and pleasing to the creator. We have no time to write an advertisement this week, but we will say that we have returned from the fashion centers with millinery that will please every customer." Call today and select what you want at Rose Jordan Hartford's, milliner, Merrimack street.

Liquor License Money Swells City Treasury—All the High School Steel Bids Rejected

There was money galore at the city treasurer's office today and it was suggested that armed men should be standing guard while it was being counted. Anyone of the many yards that found their way to the general treasury would have sufficed for an elegant and extended vacation, but they were not being handed in for that purpose. The men who requested liquor licenses and received them, were

IN CUPID ROLE

Montana Man Wants
Alderman to Find a Wife for Him

William W. Duncan, commissioner of finance, playing the cupid role, can you imagine it? Not that William W. isn't quite cute himself, but, somehow or other, he seems a little out of place as a match maker. But perhaps we are going ahead too fast with the story. William W. had been invited to play the role by a man who says he has asked mayors, perfectors of police, and others to find a wife for him and the very sadness of the man's heart is written in three words "and they failed."

The poor man asks William W. and you can almost see his hands outstretched in earnest pleading, to find him a nice girl, who isn't afraid of the cows or the cars. He thinks it is downright mean that the mayors and other officials with whom he has communicated have not made any attempt to assist him and he evidently thinks

Mr. Redmond Says Rising is Last Blow at Home Rule—Liberty Hall Shelled By Gunboat—Rebels Bombarded By Artillery—Driven Out of Trenches in Stephens Green With Heavy Losses

Newspaper despatches from Dublin report parts of the city in flames, with street fighting and looting continuing, but with steady progress being made by the military against the rebels. Artillery fire is being directed against burning buildings in some quarters, it is reported.

Last night, according to one correspondent, the troops, reinforced by new arrivals, appeared to be getting the upper hand and the end seemed near. All the rebel positions are declared to be commanded by the regulars.

Official news on the condition of affairs in Dublin today is lacking and the situation in disaffected districts outside the city is clouded in uncertainty.

LONDON, April 29, 12:40 p. m.—Parts of the city of Dublin are in flames, an Evening News despatch filed at Belfast last night says. Street fighting continues and there is much looting, it is said, but the reinforced military is making steady progress. Most of the shops are closed and passenger communication is still out of order.

One despatch received from Ireland this afternoon says that Sackville and Grafton streets in Dublin are in flames and that artillery is being used on the houses, the inhabitants having been removed.

The most important recent news that the rebels have been driven out of St. Stephen's Green with bombs, sustaining heavy losses in killed, wounded and prisoners, has not been confirmed officially. There seems to be no doubt, however, that the rebels are still in control of various parts of Dublin, and that street fighting continues with a lengthening list of casualties. It is reported the casualty list already exceeds 100.

Of the situation outside Dublin little is known beyond the official admission that the disaffection has spread to various localities in the west and south of Ireland. Field Marshal French's statement of last night described these disturbances as local in character, and so far as has been revealed by information which has passed the censorship, they have not been attended by heavy fighting.

DUBLIN CASUALTIES

One Hundred Persons Killed or Injured—Rebels Keep Up a Constant Fusillade

LONDON, April 29.—Upwards of one hundred persons have been killed or injured thus far in Dublin, a correspondent at Belfast of the Evening News reports in a despatch filed last night. He says the rioters, hidden in houses commanding important street junctions or covered by barricades in the streets, are keeping up a constant fusillade. The list of casualties continues to lengthen. It includes many civilians who, the correspondent says, have been picked off by Sinn Féin snipers for no other reason than that they were believed to be loyal.

The cordon of troops is being drawn gradually but surely around the rebel strongholds. The authorities are carrying on their difficult task with the greatest forbearance. Every effort is being made to avoid unnecessary bloodshed and damage.

"Strangers who traverse some parts of the central portion of the city take their lives in their hands," the correspondent continues. "In one or two instances rioters shot down women and children."

"Members of the Sinn Féin requisitioned all motor cars entering the city and used them for transporting rifles and ammunition to concentration points. At the law courts they indulged in an orgy of destruction."

"I am able to state that Lady Wimborne, (wife of the lord lieutenant of Ireland) and Sir Robert and Lady Anderson, about whom there was much anxiety earlier in the week, are safe."

POPE BENEDICT ACTS

Sends Telegram to Archbishop of Dublin After Audience with English Prelate

PARIS, April 29.—A Rome despatch to the Mail says that Pope Benedict granted an interview of an hour to Cardinal Gasquet, an English prelate, after which the pope sent a long telegram to the archbishop of Dublin.

NO INVESTIGATION HERE

Dept. of Justice Has Taken No Action on Reports of Aid to Rebels From This Country

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Department of justice officials said today no steps had yet been taken to investigate alleged activities of sympathizers in this country with the revolutionist movement in Ireland. The only information relating to the activities of such sympathizers, officials said, was contained in unconfirmed newspaper reports and a statement made yesterday in London by John Redmond, the Irish leader, to the effect that the movement had been abetted by men in this country.

No investigation is likely in the immediate future, officials say, unless disclosures, unlooked for now, come to their attention.

Although Sir Roger Casement was reported to have solicited funds openly in this country in the fall of 1914 for Irish organizations and the attitude of many Irish sympathizers in this country is well known to the department, thus far there have been no official indications that the activities of these sympathizers had resulted in a violation of American neutrality laws.

The sending of money by sympathizers in the United States to the Sinn Féin in Ireland and to other organizations, officials pointed out, would constitute a violation of American neutrality laws. Even the sending of arms to the Sinn Féin would not alone constitute a violation of neutrality, the officials said.

MANY FREE FIGHTS

Women Take a Hand in Rioting in Dublin—Excursionists Joined the Rebels.

LONDON, April 29. (Dublin).—Simultaneously with the outbreak in Dublin of Monday, a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. dated yesterday, a number of excursion trains arrived with men apparently pleasure bent. Immediately upon reaching the station these men proceeded to join the rebels. Along the road also men who seemingly were working in gardens suddenly picked up guns and began firing at passersby, the despatch states.

Around Jacob's factory the trouble is accentuated by women taking sides. Their attempts to get provisions in to the beleaguered rebels are resisted by co-workers who remain loyal and many free fights among the two factions of women are reported.

Mr. Redmond Says Rising is Last Blow at Home Rule—Liberty Hall Shelled By Gunboat—Rebels Bombarded By Artillery—Driven Out of Trenches in Stephens Green With Heavy Losses

Gen. Townsend, commanding the British force of over 10,000, that has been beleaguered by the Turks at Kut-el-Amara on the Tigris in Mesopotamia since last December, has surrendered.

A British army for months has been fighting its way up the Tigris to the relief of Gen. Townsend's force, but although it has won successes, and worked to within less than 20 miles of the distressed garrison, the combination of stubborn Turkish resistance and flood conditions on the Tigris has prevented its further advance.

A recent attempt to send supplies to Kut-el-Amara by a relief ship under cover of darkness failed. The force under Gen. Townsend's command, treated to that point, 110 miles down the Tigris from Bagdad, after its defeat late last year in a battle fought

Of his experiences in the city, the engineer said:

"I reached a point opposite the Shelbourne hotel shortly after 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. Much firing between the rebels and the troops was in progress. It was said the troops were caught unprepared and suffered from casualties. The cavalry assisted the infantry whole heartily."

According to Sackville street I saw that fighting was going on there. The largest dry goods store in the city has been taken by the rebels. The store was fired on by the regulars, who used artillery. The building was set on fire and destroyed, together with the Imperial hotel nearby. The rebels occupied a bakery in Canal street which also was shelled by artillery and burned. I heard a report which I could not verify, that Alderman Kelly, a large tobacco dealer, and a member of the Sinn Féin was killed when the rebels were driven from his place. A report also was current that James Connolly, a Sinn Féin leader, had been killed.

"I heard from a man who was present that the troops, on taking Liberty hall after its destruction by the rebels, found a secret tunnel through which the rebels escaped, taking all but a few of the wounded to the Amiens street railway station."

In walking about St. Stephen's and College Greens, I was surprised at the number of flags of the so-called Irish republic which I saw.

"I can state definitely that no effort was made to take the Bank of Ireland. A lone sentry on guard was not molested."

"There was some looting by the rabble following in the wake of the rebels. As a reward I saw 45 shoes selling from carts in the streets for ten cents and upwards, while silk hats, blouses and fine lingerie were equally cheap."

"There was no looting by the rebels themselves, further than the throwing out to poor women in the streets of sacks of flour and biscuits from a biscuit factory which they were still holding when I left Dublin on Tuesday night."

"Clergy of all denominations seemed active in helping the wounded, regardless of exposure to danger. Religious supplies were beginning to run short on Tuesday afternoon, owing probably to requisitions for the rebels and the troops. I understand a delegation of Catholic priests had made arrangements with the rebels with a view to supplying the civil population."

It is said James Connolly, the Sinn Féin leader, undertook to issue to persons desiring to leave Dublin passports bearing the words: "Pass bearer, James Connolly, commandant-general of the Irish republican army."

LOWELL MEN IN BATTLE

TEMPORARY HOSPITAL IN FRANCE. ARROW POINTS TO EMILE VANDERBULCKE OF THIS CITY, WHO WAS RECENTLY WOUNDED

Emile Vanderbulcke Wounded, Now in Hospital—Brother is Prisoner in Germany

The above picture is from a photograph taken in a temporary hospital somewhere in France and among the injured shown on the picture is a Lowell man, Emile Vanderbulcke, whose wife and two handsome young children reside in Tilden street, this city, the wife conducting a small store in order to support herself and children. The photograph was taken a few weeks ago and was received in this city yesterday, accompanied by a very interesting letter from Mr. Vanderbulcke, who appears under the arrow in the picture.

In his letter Private Vanderbulcke informs his wife that he was injured by a shrapnel shell in France during a fierce battle, and that at the same time his brother, Henri, who is also well known in this city, was either killed or captured by the Germans, for he has had no news from him since the clash. Mrs. Vanderbulcke learned from other sources, however, that her brother-in-law is a war prisoner at Gressen, Germany.

After being injured the Lowell man was removed to a temporary hospital and there, he states, he received the best of treatment. The food was very good and the Red Cross nurses who appear in the background of the photograph did all in their power to cheer and comfort the injured, some of whom suffered most serious wounds.

Mr. Vanderbulcke does not give much detail concerning the battle in which he was injured, but states that several hundred French and British soldiers were killed, while four times as many Germans were shot to death. A large number of prisoners was captured on both sides. Pieces of shrapnel which exploded near him almost shattered his right leg. He remained a few weeks in the temporary hospital and later was removed to a permanent hospital, not far from Paris. He is now able to walk around, and expects to return to the front in a few weeks.

Mrs. Vanderbulcke is also in receipt of a letter from her husband's "war godmother," as they are called in France. A war godmother is a woman who takes a certain number of soldiers under her personal care and she makes it her business to supply them with the necessities of life that they cannot obtain from the government, as well as with luxuries, such as tobacco, cigarettes and other good things.

The war godmother urges the Lowell woman to be patient and also to pray for the speedy recovery of her husband, and she concludes by saying she hopes the treacherous war will be brought to an end soon and that Emile will soon return to his beloved family in Lowell, Mass. This godmother, who does not divulge her identity, is one of the thousands of wealthy women of France, who spend their time and money for the welfare of the French soldiers, and it is stated that many of them have replaced the men in ammunition factories, performing hard labor in order to supply the soldiers with ammunition.

CITY OF LOWELL, April 29, 1916.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 160 of the Revised Laws, that Fred O. Lewis has applied for a license to sell intoxicating liquors, of the sixth class as Druggist, at No. 238 Westford st., and 1 A Osgood st., in two rooms on first floor and cellar.

THE SPELLBINDER

Some time ago when it was suggested that the work of oiling the streets be started about April 15, Commissioner Morse expressed the opinion that it would be economy to wait until the frost was thoroughly out of the ground, and the streets dried up, and he also stated that he thought May 1 would be early enough. Although the clouds of dust were flying in all directions, and the general appearances were that winter had disappeared and spring had come, but subsequent events have shown that had the oiling been done on or about April 15, a lot of good and expensive oil would have been wasted, as the result of spreading it prematurely, and this is what is doubtful if conditions will be favorable by May 1. Yesterday's storm upset all calculations as to oiling, and may have interfered with some of the plans for "Clean-Up Week."

The Next Election

The next elective office to be considered by the municipal council, barring the unforeseen, is that of chairman of the license commission, as the six-year term of John J. Mullaney, who was appointed by former Mayor McLean, under the old form of government, comes to an end with the close of the month of May. The coming election will be the third to take place under the present charter, which provides for the election of the license commissioner by vote of the municipal council, rather than by appointment by the mayor. Messrs. Hanson and Boulger were the two who were elected under the present form of government.

It was stated in a newspaper not long ago, that the election of license commissioner is always held back until after the grant of the license for that year, had been made. While it may be a coincidence that such is the case, the granting of the license has no connection with the election, inasmuch as the new man could not take office until after the license had been granted. The election of license commissioner has been granted prior to the first of May, while the term of office does not expire until June 1. The idea of delaying the election of license commissioner until within a short time of the expiration of the term, is due undoubtedly to the experience undergone when the late Mayor Dimon was elected to the office. Mayor Dimon almost immediately after his inauguration appointed Hon. Fisher H. Pearson police commissioner, as the office was then known, although the term for which he was making the appointment did not begin until nearly six months later. The mayor's object in making such a hasty appointment was to get rid of the importunities of the various candidates for the position, and their friends, that would follow as the days went by. His mind was made up from the start to appoint Mr. Pearson, and he believed that by naming that gentleman early in the year, he would put an end to all discussion and campaigning for the position. But a few months later, and before the term of the official whom Mr. Pearson was to succeed had expired, Mayor Dimon died, and Alderman William E. Badger, by virtue of his office as chairman of the board of aldermen, became acting mayor of the city. In those days the police commissioner's appointments were made on partisan lines, the mayor always appointing a member of his own party to the office. Mayor Dimon, a democrat, had appointed Pearson, also a democrat, to the position but did not believe that Mr. Pearson could carry out his duties as police commissioner, by Mr. Badger, a republican. The politician of the republican party immediately made the claim that it would be up to the acting mayor to fill the position of police commissioner when the term of Dimon's term in office should expire, regardless of the appointment the deceased mayor had made prematurely. Then up sprang a host of republicans seeking the office that the work of oiling the streets be started about April 15, Commissioner Morse expressed the opinion that it would be economy to wait until the frost was thoroughly out of the ground, and the streets dried up, and he also stated that he thought May 1 would be early enough. Although the clouds of dust were flying in all directions, and the general appearances were that winter had disappeared and spring had come, but subsequent events have shown that had the oiling been done on or about April 15, a lot of good and expensive oil would have been wasted, as the result of spreading it prematurely, and this is what is doubtful if conditions will be favorable by May 1. Yesterday's storm upset all calculations as to oiling, and may have interfered with some of the plans for "Clean-Up Week."

One of the real jokes relative to the recent presidential primaries, is the statement which some one has had the temerity to make, that the fact that Governor McCall was the only one of the Big Four to carry Lowell, was because he appointed a Lowell man as one of his military staff. A copy of that statement should be mailed to Mr. Charles Baxter, the representative of the Big Four, in the campaign, so that he may enjoy a laugh, too, along with Dan Cosgrove and the rest of us. Mr. Baxter, it is said, made several trips to Lowell, within the past few weeks, his main purpose being to interview just one man and to get him busy, and if report be true he had an experience similar to that of the man who once attempted to locate a needle in a haystack. The man he sought in support, was under cover, "his claimed."

Knocking His Own

Says Political Straws in the Courier-Citizen: "A study of the returns by wards discloses an abnormal number of blanks. One might well venture the suggestion that where an able-bodied citizen hasn't the sense to mark his ballot correctly, the suffrage pass to his wife for a year."

That's rather rough on his brother republicans, for they did practically all of the voting, correct or otherwise. There were no democratic contests, and only a few democrats went to the caucuses. Some who did went with a fixed purpose to vote for the unionist who was a whole, and few if any, attempted to split their tickets. Ninety per cent of those who voted were republicans, and the blanks were abnormally large. What's the answer? The statement that suffrage in certain cases should be passed on to the wives for a year, is a well known fact that a large majority of the women who are out for suffrage are the wives and daughters of republicans, while the wives and daughters of democrats, as a rule, are not enthusiastic over the movement.

FROM 5 TO 14 CENTS
Woburn-Winchester line to Perry Corner, Wilmington.
Questions For Remonstrants
These new fare zones, designed to produce $1,815,165 additional revenue, were discussed at the cent fare hearing before the public service commission yesterday. Arthur M. Wadleigh, cross-examining Robert M. Fenstel for the remonstrants, asked him to explain the changes.

"Do you mean," asked Mr. Wadleigh, "that where, in the past, a man has ridden from one point to another for cents, in the future he will have to pay 12 cents for exactly the same ride, if his ride happens to include a new zone?"

"That is correct," said Mr. Fenstel, adding that connecting lines would be affected only where it is indicated on the map.

"But no matter what route a man may pass over, he pays an extra fare if he goes through this zone?"

"Yes."

Mr. Wadleigh asked the company to furnish a map showing the desired changes.

dents and expenses for 1914 he placed at $457,603, or 7 1/2 per cent of operating expenses. He said propounding and semi-convertible cars reduce the number of accidents, and this would probably be reflected in a decreased cost of indemnities.

The hearing was adjourned till Monday at 9:45 a. m.

IN POLICE COURT

Woman Charged With False Statement of Son's Age

Killipe Aggelinas Vajos was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging her with unlawfully making a false statement for the purpose of her son securing employment. Through an interpreter she entered a plea of not guilty, and inasmuch as she stated that she is waiting for a certificate of birth of her boy from Greece the case was continued for ten days.

The complaint was made by Dr. J. H. Melancon, of the state board of labor and industries, and it is alleged that the woman in order to get employment for her son was instrumental in the falsification of his birth.

Will Pay His Fines

Fred W. Briggs who was in court yesterday, after a long and tedious hearing, was given three weeks in which to pay his fine.

He Lied to the Court

When John C. Mollahan appeared in court this morning on a charge of larceny he said that he was a sailor on the Battleship Nebraska and asked the court to give him a chance. Inquiry was made and this morning Deputy Downey produced in court a letter from Capt. Burrage of the battleship Nebraska, stating that Mollahan was not a member of the crew. Mollahan entered a plea of not guilty and after ordering egg sandwiches and coffee and disposing of them refused to settle. The court is of the opinion that the defendant may be slightly demented and his case was continued until Monday morning in order that he may be placed under observation.

A prisoner charged with drunkenness, was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory. One drunken offender was sentenced to three months in jail.

THE FATHER OF WATERS

AREA IN IOWA AND ILLINOIS WHERE THE MISSISSIPPI RUNS DUE WEST

One of the most recent additions to the great topographic atlas of the United States which the United States Geological Survey is constructing is the map of the area known as the Edgington quadrangle, lying on the border of Iowa and Illinois. This area, which covers about 230 square miles, is nearly bisected by the Mississippi river and taken by itself presents the Father of Waters in a somewhat strange position, for the river flows almost due west across the area. The map shows Iowa on the north side of the river and Illinois on the south. Immediately west of this area near Muscatine, the stream resumes its southward flow.

The area within the Edgington quadrangle, back from the bluffs that border the Mississippi, is essentially an agricultural region, although a large part of it is devoted to pasture.

Bluffs 150 to 200 feet in height closely border the river except along a portion of the Illinois side, where there is an alluvial flat a quarter to a half a mile in width, which is flooded in extremely high water. On the Iowa side the immediate bank of the river is 10 to 20 feet high, and above this is a narrow terrace of gravel underlain by limestone, bordering the foot of the bluffs. The bluffs on both sides and most of the ravines are heavily timbered. The larger islands in the river are also covered with a heavy growth of timber, in which oaks predominate.

The river has changed but little during the last 25 years, as shown by a comparison with the charts of the Mississippi river commission, made in 1852. The channel is practically the same now as it was then, owing to the facts that the north bank, being partly of limestone, is not easily eroded, and that probably a considerable portion of the river bed also is bed-rock, and that submerged dams have been built to keep the river flow in its natural channel.

For many years the water of the river in this section have furnished the material for thriving businesses in the manufacture of buttons from mussel shells, and incidentally a few pearls have been obtained. Muscatine is the center of this industry. The United States government has established a biologic station on the Iowa side near Fairport, for studying the natural history of the fresh-water mussel and propagating it, with the object of restocking the nearly exhausted beds.

Mississippi river within the area of the Edgington quadrangle is a beautiful stretch of water, flowing placidly.

LAWRENCE LICENSES

MANY OLD DEALERS DROPPED AND SEVERAL NEW ONES TAKEN ON BY LICENSE BOARD.

LAWRENCE, April 29.—The grant of liquor licenses in Lawrence was made yesterday and many of the old dealers were dropped by the license board. It required several sessions of the board to complete agreements. The sessions waxed warm at times and the voices of the commissioners grew so loud that they could be heard outside the meeting room. The new licenses granted and the old ones dropped, were as follows:

New licensees—John E. Bartlett, George E. Cuddy, J. C. Callahan, Curtis C. Dearborn, John F. and J. J. Finn, J. C. and P. J. Finnegan, J. F. and P. J. Linehan, McGurn & P. J. T. and D. O'Connor, C. J. Owens, A. Selasca, John Sheehan, William Schreiber, Sullivan & Tully.

Those dropped—George L. Black, Barnett Cohen, George Hazeltine, John H. Kennedy, William H. Bell, Frank E. McDonough, German Central club.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The rank of knight was conferred on four esquires at the regular meeting of Wamesit lodge, 25, Knights of Pythias, held last evening in its headquarters. There was a large attendance and the exercises were very much enjoyed. Brother Kelley was reported improved.

Ladd & Whitney Circle

Ladd and Whitney circle, 8, Ladies of the G. A. O., held a regular meeting in Post 135 hall with Mrs. Martha E. Ryan presiding. Arrangements were made for the 23rd anniversary of the circle which takes place on May 10. A group picture of the members was taken after the meeting.

Lowell Lodge, K. of P.

C. C. George T. McElroy presided at the regular meeting of Lowell lodge, 24, Knights of Pythias. There was a large attendance, including many visiting brothers. The rank of page was conferred upon two candidates for Wamesit lodge.

Of the 5,864,492 farmers in the United States, 257,703 are women.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

House Advances Juvenile Bill—Provides Punishment for Neglectful Parents

BOSTON, April 29.—The Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday ordered to a third reading the bill, "Delinquent Children," which, if it becomes law, will result in a decided change in the handling by the courts of juvenile offenders. Briefly stated, the bill provides that parents may be punished if the evidence in the trial of a juvenile shows that either father or mother, or both, have "aided and abetted," or "connived with," the defendant and are thus responsible for his or her delinquency; it gives the courts the right to exclude the public at the trial of juveniles and it further provides special sessions for jury trials of juveniles in the superior court.

Under the present law the court cannot punish a parent even if the evidence shows that the father or mother was responsible for the child's delinquency. The bill passed yesterday gives the lower court this power and also the higher court, providing an appeal is taken.

The bill was bitterly opposed, largely by the Boston members.

Bill Product of "Theorists"
Mr. Fitzgerald of Boston said the bill took from court officers the power to not prosecute, and that there was no sense in probation officers interfering with family affairs as they do now. The legislature ought not to be influenced by social uplifters.

Mr. Young of Weston declared that no separate judge would be required and there would be no extra expense. There was no possibility that an innocent parent could be punished, he said, and guilty cases ought to be held accountable.

W. H. Sullivan of Boston said that the commission which recommended the bill had never been heard of since.

Mr. Abbott of Haverhill said that the two previous speakers would have lawless men in the house of representatives, and that the bill proposed to offset bad home training. As a lawyer who had had many juvenile cases he was sure that in 19 cases out of 20 of juvenile delinquency the parents are directly responsible.

The standing vote on ordering the bill to third reading was 29 yeas, 38 nays. Mr. Sullivan of Boston secured a rollcall and there were 11 yeas to 63 nays.

Tabernacle Veto Upheld
Mr. Greenwood of an unsuccessful fight to have the Billy Sunday Tabernacle bill passed over the veto of Gov. McCall. The governor was sustained, however, 159 to 60. The motion was on the question, "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto of His Excellency?"

The house refused to reject, although recommended to do so by the committee on ways and means, the bill to provide for the testing of poultry by the trustees of the Massachusetts Agricultural college.

Next came a fight on the bill for the appointment of dog officers and the impounding of stray dogs, a measure said to be designed to encourage the sheep industry.

The claim that the sheep industry in Massachusetts had declined because of the many dogs in the state was answered by the argument that the condition of the wool market had discouraged the raising of sheep in Massachusetts and nothing else.

After an extended debate the house rejected the bill by an almost unanimous vote.

The judiciary committee reported a bill to limit arrest on mesne process and to provide for supplementary proceedings in civil actions.

The committee on social welfare, with dissent of Messrs. Brennan of Natick and Gillis of Boston, reported a bill to amend the law relative to employment of women and minors by providing that the state board of labor and industries shall determine what employments are seasonal.

Mr. James presented a petition from the mayor of Cambridge that certain appointments of the commissioner of public safety be confirmed. It was referred to the committee on rules.

Force Milk Payment
The legislative committee on public health and agriculture, sitting jointly, have voted to report a bill designed to insure prompt payment to milk producers by contractors.

The bill provides that the contractor shall make payments for milk every two weeks or monthly and further requires the milk dealers to file a bond.

At the hearing on the bill several weeks ago farmers testified that some contractors never paid for milk. Instances were cited where farmers had failed financially because contractors had refused to pay what was justly due.

Bar Trading Stamps
Senator James P. Cavanagh, before the house committee on rules of the Massachusetts legislature yesterday, advocated admission of a bill to prohibit sale or distribution of trading stamps or similar devices.

Mr. Lyman, representing the Merchants' Local Stamp company, proposed admission of the petition. He contended that the supreme court decision cited by Senator Cavanagh does not alter the situation with respect to the use of trading stamps in Massachusetts and that this bill would be open to the charge of unconstitutionality, as already sustained by court decisions in this state.

No action was taken by the committee.

Black North Highway
The Black North highway bill, for a state road between Dracut and Methuen, was passed to a third reading in the house. Representatives Colburn of Lowell and Burling of Lawrence, who have made a hard fight for the measure ever since it was introduced by William D. Schler of Beverly, chairman of the highway commission, were primed for a fight on it yesterday, but it went along on the reading of the calendar with no opposition.

Part of this condition was due to the fact that the ways and means committee had voted favorably on the bill and Representative Murphy of Lowell, a member of that body, was in charge of the report.

Jewett Wilds Gavel
During the temporary absence of the Hon. Channing H. Cox, speaker of the Massachusetts house of representatives, Victor F. Jewett of Lowell was called to the chair to preside over the deliberations of that body.

MR. AND MRS. LEPINE RETURN
Mr. and Mrs. George Lepine, who were married in this city last Sunday, returned from their wedding tour yesterday, after visiting relatives and friends in Boston, Providence, R. I., and other important centres, and last evening they were tendered a reception at the home of the bride's uncle, Charles A. Delaronde, 128 Lilley avenue.

The affair was attended by only the immediate relatives of the couple and a most pleasant evening was spent. A delightful musical program was given by the Delaronde three-piece orchestra, composed of Mr. Delaronde, corner, Miss Beatrice Delaronde, piano and Miss Ruth Delaronde, violin. Others who took part in the musical program were Mr. and Mrs. George Lepine, Henri Lepine, Severin Hebert, E. J. Laroche and others. Refreshments were served and the guests departed at a reasonable hour. Mr. and Mrs. Lepine will make their home at 150 Alken street. Mr. Lepine is the moving picture operator at the Merrimack Square theatre.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Today is the last chance offered the theatregoers of Lowell and the surrounding towns to see "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," that gigantic dramatic success which has been playing to packed houses all the week and which has been unanimously voted the best attraction given in Lowell in many seasons. There are some good seats left for both performances and they should be secured early to avoid disappointment.

Next week will be the farewell week of the Emerson players in Lowell and for a closing attraction, the management will present that brilliant comedy sensation "Marrying Money," which comes direct from a year's run at the Princess theatre in New York city and which has been pronounced by the critics "a whole of a hit." New York and Chicago audiences went wild over this play and Boston audiences will rave over it too when it is presented in the hub next season at two dollar prices.

"Marrying Money" tells the story of Theodore Vanderpool, a poor member of a rich family who is seeking marriage with an heiress. Mildred Miles is the daughter of a financier who has lost money heavily and, like Vanderpool, seeks a match with a wealthy partner. They meet and believing that the other is rolling in wealth, decide to elope. Then the fun begins and it is fast and furious from the start to the finish, the authors having woven together a series of situations around a group of characters that bustle buttons to all sides.

Herbert Hayes will be seen as Theodore Vanderpool while Mildred Miles will be portrayed by Ann O'Day. Josephine Carr, Walter von Bookman, Edward Nannery, Richard Barry, Frank Wright, Forrest Gordon, May Gerald and all the favorites will be seen in splendid characters.

Being farewell week, there is a big demand for seats for the twelve performances and owing to this demand, patrons are advised by management to make reservations early. The players are certain to be given a great reception all the week and as there are no ceremonies attached to any of the performances, patrons who secure seats early and for as early in the week as possible are certain not to be disappointed.

Make reservations now. Phone 251. If you are arranging parties it is wise to secure blocks of seats early as indications point to the Opera House breaking to "Smithereens" all former success records in Lowell.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
The Fadettes of Boston will be in first place at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening, at the big Sunday performance. The patrons are advised by management that everybody who attends will get his full money's worth, for the orchestra is an exceptionally capable one, and is always sure to play likeable music. The programs which Mrs. Caroline B. Nichols, the leader, offers are invariably a near mixture of classic with popular numbers, so that all musical tastes are touched. Josephine Carr, one of the best of singers, will give her repertoire of new song numbers, and Bogard and Nicoll will sing and yodel. In addition there will be three new acts and six motion pictures.

A real novelty will lead off the bill at the theatre next week. The California orange packers, who for five times in succession have won the championship of the state of sunshine, will furnish that novelty. The Orange Growers' association of California annually hold a packing contest, and award prizes for the most efficient packers. The four who have won that contest so many times that they are now ineligible are Messrs. Louis Lowe and Ethel Dale and Messrs. Orville Rogers and Leo L. Crosse. It was suggested that their accomplishments would make good vaudeville material, and they have acted upon the suggestion. A short film showing the orange packing by the gloved pickers in California opens this act, and it further shows how the fruit is washed, sorted and placed in wrapping paper ready to be packed. Men are employed in making the crates, and girls place them in the boxes. The experts work so rapidly that it is really confusing to the eye.

During the Month of May

Hot water simply by striking a match. Lots and lots of hot water. The Vulcan Gas Water Heater is quick and economical. It burns little gas—costing less to heat water than if you start the range. It doesn't heat up the kitchen on hot days. It never gets out of order and will last a lifetime. Put this Gas Water Heater in your kitchen and you will wonder you ever got through a summer without it.

---YOU CAN GET A GAS WATER HEATER FOR THE LOW PRICE OF $17---FULLY INSTALLED---

On June 1st it will be necessary to raise the price of the Vulcan Gas Water Heater. Raw materials and labor cost more.

But before the price goes up we want every customer of the Lowell Gas Light Company to have the opportunity to buy a heater at the lower price. So we obtained a large consignment of heaters which we shall sell during the month of May only at $17, fully installed. In order that everyone may be able to purchase, we have made the terms as easy as can be—

THE INCOME TAX

Bill Declared to Be in the Interest of the Rich

BOSTON, April 29.—The hearing yesterday before the house ways and means committee of the Massachusetts legislature on the income tax bill reported by the committee on taxation yesterday revealed a wide and active opposition to the measure. So many wanted to be heard that it was announced that another session would be held Thursday.

The bill provides for a 6 per cent tax on the income from taxable intangible property, a tax of 1½ per cent on earned incomes in excess of $2000, and a 3 per cent tax on profits from the purchase or sale of securities.

Asa T. Newhall of Lynn, president of the Massachusetts Assessors' association, opened the attack.

"I believe the principle of taxing income is wrong," he asserted. "I don't believe the city of Lynn will derive one-half the income from taxation as it is getting at the present if this bill goes through."

"Where is the state going to get the money to reimburse the cities and towns for what they lose under this bill? It means an increase in the state tax."

Representative Mildram said that the bill was more a measure of exemptions than an income proposition, and declared there would be a shifting of the burden to have a serious effect on the stock market and the commonwealth as a whole.

Gifford Attacks Andrews
Senator Charles I. Gifford contended that the bill was the product of some influence of the rich man, who, he said, "unfortunately always has molded public opinion and certain legislative measures."

Senator Gifford said that he never saw such a strong lobby at work in his life as the lobby which seeks to railroad this bill through the legislature. He said that Charles A. Andrews, the former deputy tax commissioner, who now is president of the Massachusetts Tax association, and who was present, should be back in the state house working for all the people instead of the few rich ones.

Representative William O. Southerland said that if the bill was passed it would mean the ruin of many real estate men.

Mr. Andrews said he wished to rise to a point of personal privilege, as he had been unjustly attacked. He denied that he was being paid by any person for his assistance to the committee on taxation.

Joseph L. Handford, an assessor of New Bedford, said that every member of the state assessors' organization is opposed to the bill.

He said he believed that 10 per cent is none too high and that the bill, if passed, should include a compulsory return.

Scores the Opposition
Thomas G. Nye, an assessor of Brockton, said that the whole question resolved itself into the problem of providing sufficient revenue without placing a burden upon anybody, but that the bill would do neither.

Representative Druce then said that the talk was not opposition at all, but personal attacks and objections without reasons. He said that Prof. Chas. J. Bullock of Harvard, who received nothing for his work, was one of the many authorities on taxation consulted, and that surely he is not a man who would lower himself to advocate class legislation in favor of the rich.

"The bill," he said, "is the result of recommendations of two democratic governors and one republican governor, and is favored alike by democratic and republican legislators."

SNOW HAS VANISHED

DEPTH OF THREE OR FOUR INCHES FELL—THIS THE LATEST FOR 27 YEARS

There is hardly any evidence of yesterday's snow storm in this city today, despite the fact that about three inches deep fell over the city during the latter part of Thursday night and yesterday. According to the weather bureau the latest date for any appreciable fall of snow for 27 years was yesterday.

The storm started late Thursday night with an April shower and in the early hours the rain turned into snow flakes, which fell constantly until late yesterday afternoon, rain returning to the scene occasionally during the day. The fields retained the snow more than the streets did, but at noon today all had disappeared under the strong rays of the sun.

According to the figures of the Locks & Canals Co. between three and four inches of snow had fallen up to last evening and this means a record for this time of the year. Last evening the snow shifted to a cold, drizzling rain, the clouds clearing about eight o'clock.

BOY ADMITS MURDER

EDGAR HETTINGER SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED TO KILLING OF MRS. MIDDLETON

CHICAGO, April 29.—Edgar Hettinger, 19 years old, has confessed to the murder of Mrs. Agnes Middleton, a widow, 41 years old, according to the police today. The police version of the confession is that Hettinger killed the woman on the night of April 4th by her hat on the west side, first striking her on the head with a hammer and then slashing her throat with a razor. Robbery was the motive, he said.

Gustave Deutchmann, a violinist, who lived in the flat with Mrs. Middleton, had been arrested on suspicion.

The average weekly earnings of women in industries to the United States is $3.24.

To all who call at the I will give Consultations, Diagnosis of Disease, and Examinations, Absolutely Free of Charge.

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature.

It is estimated that ninety-two per cent. of all diseases are caused by errors in eating. These errors are made by wrong selections, wrong combinations, and wrong proportions of food. I teach you how to correct these, how to select, how to combine and how to proportion your food according to your age and your occupation. This cures by removing causes. It gives Nature a chance. This is the true science of human nutrition, and it is governed by laws as inflexible as the laws of gravitation. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

CY'S RECORD LOOKS SAFE

MATHEWSON ONLY VETERAN IN GAME WHO HAS A CHANCE TO EQUAL YOUNG'S FEATS

Cy Young's sterling pitching record may endure all time. Only one pitcher in the game today—Christie Mathewson—has a chance to eclipse it. But the sun seems to be setting on Matty's major league pitching life—and, wonderful as is his work, it cannot compare with that of the old "war horse."

Young quit the game along in 1910 or 1911 and retired to his farm after having taken part in 319 combats. Of these he won 508, giving him a grand pitching average around 6.20 for the entire period.

At the end of the 1915 season, Mathewson's record showed that over a stretch of 16 years under the big canvas he had worked in 614 games, 203 of these he won, 365 he lost. Even though he has some miracle record in the major league spotlight until he has pitched more games than Young, it is beyond the range of probability that he win 60 per cent. of the remaining games. And that is just about what the weakening arm must accomplish to beat out the record of Young.

When one compares Young's record with that of Mathewson and the other great pitchers of today there comes the full knowledge of what an amazing "twister" was "old Cy"—a hurler whose like may never again illuminate and glorify the baseball world.

CONNIE MACK'S PUPILS

MANY ATHLETIC CHAMPIONS NOW STARRING WITH OTHER TEAMS OF BIG LEAGUES

Connie Mack's champions are scattered, but they are still playing ball. In one important particular the famous Athletics have differed from other champion teams of the past. When they left the scene of their triumphs they did not leave behind them the prominent contenders for the American league flag—Chicago, Boston, and New York—are relying upon pupils of Connie Mack to keep them in the running.

Eddie Collins is the captain of the White Sox and is star both on offense and defense. The acquisition of Jack Barry made a champion team of the Red Sox and with Speaker gone he stands today their greatest player.

The Yankees are on top in the junior major league and to Frank Baker, but in a fielding star, a great measure of their success is due.

And the pitchers? Well, last Wednesday the Yanks went into the lead, and Bob Shawkey pitched and won the game that put them there. On the very same day Phil Hughes won the game for the Phillies. The pitcher who sent that team ahead in the National. And Fielder Jones is counting upon Eddie Plank to make the Browns dangerous.

No, the Athletic stars aren't through; Connie cut loose from them at the top of their careers.

RED SOX CHAMPIONS

MANY STARS OF 1912 WORLD'S SERIES HAVE DROPPED TO THE MINERS

The Red Sox roster is some different today than when they took the world's championship from the New York Nationals in 1912.

Joe Wood, who won thirty-four games and lost five that year, has refused to sign a contract. Wood, for that matter, has been of little value to the Red Sox since making his remarkable record. Hugh Bedient, Ray Collins, Hall and O'Brien, who also pitched against the Giants in 1912 have gone. Steve Yerkes, the second baseman, is with the Cubs; Jake Stahl, the manager and

Bridgeport Took Opening Game by Score of 6 to 2—Light Hitting

Special to The Sun
BRIDGEPORT, April 29.—Harry Lord's Lowell Grays got away to a good start in the first inning of yesterday's game but could not keep up the good work. Bridgeport caught up with the procession by scoring two runs in the second inning, and put the necessary tally over in the fourth. Three lopsided scores rolled over the plate in the eighth, making the score 6 to 2.

There was a slight fall in rain at the start of the pastime, but all signs of showers had vanished in the third inning. It was a great day for the pitchers, with the batters all clothed in alibis by reason of their unfamiliarity with pitching so early in the season.

Harry Walsh, the big right-hander of Ball's squad, started poorly in the first stanza, but after that he was invincible. He showed a tendency to wildness, passing Stimpson, the first man up. Manager Lord got an infield single in trying to sacrifice, and there were two runs on none down. Brien took a life when Stewart dropped Thompson's throw to nip Lord going down to second. Outs by Barrows and Munn brought in the only two runs scored by Lowell.

Bridgeport did business in the second when Mosher drew a pass. Thompson popped one to Kilhullen, but Torphy slipped up and let the ball drive. Mosher went to second. Stewart poled a long two-bagger to left centre, scoring the two runners, but did trying to stretch his blow into a triple.

In the fourth Byrne led off with a single through shortstop, and stole second while Kilhullen looked for the ball. Mosher fanned and with Thompson up, Byrne went to third on a passed ball. He scored on Thompson's stiff slam, which Torphy relayed to first for the second out. Crook died over the same route.

Bridgeport's three in the eighth set the issue, and the fans began to leave the park. Stewart breezed, and Walsh was walked, going all the way to third on Edward's smash for two corners. Gaudette poked one at Torphy who returned to the plate, but Kilhullen failed to touch Walsh, who was declared safe by Umpire Innis. Edwards went to third and scored when Mosher fanned. Ball drove one safely into the outfield. Mosher drove what looked like a hit straight into the hands of Barrows, who doubled Ball at second, ending the inning.

In the ninth Munn was given a gift single when Byrne and Stewart let his puny fly down behind them. The runner got no farther than first, however, Walsh putting on steam and ending the game in short order.

COLIN MCLEAN DEAD

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28.—Colin McLean, one of the largest and best known contractors in the Atlantic seaboard, died at his home here today of pneumonia. He was born in Nova Scotia 72 years ago. Among his undertakings were the construction of the foundations for the Statue of Liberty and Brooklyn bridge. He also built the longest timber bridge in the world, that over Alchemar sound.

WORCESTER TEAM

Revival of Baseball as Result of Change in Management

Special to The Sun
WORCESTER, April 29.—With the new owners, a new manager, and in a new league, everything points toward a revival of baseball in Worcester that will bring the game back on the same plane it was a couple of years ago, when Worcester was the backbone of the New England league. The new Eastern league was sorely needed, as was a change in ownership to revive the game here.

First of all a few words about President Edward J. Smith, Business Manager John McMahon and Manager Billy Hamilton. The latter, a wonderful hitter and base-runner—the Ty Cobb of his day in the big show, and the idol of the Boston fans—needs little introduction. He has piloted New England teams, and even without strong financial backing has turned out hustling, aggressive teams. Hamilton will have a free hand with the team, and should be up in the race. On the face of things now, it looks as though he had gathered a crack infield, good outfield, was strong behind the bat, but a bit weak in the box.

President Smith is one of the most popular young business men in Worcester, with hundreds of warm friends who are pulling hard for his success in his baseball venture. The "boosters" banquet at the Bay State hotel, at which a check for the cost of two complete uniforms, around $200, was turned over to President Smith, was proof positive of his friends' feeling toward Mr. Smith and his team, "the Boosters."

John McMahon, of "Jack Mack," as he is better known to followers of sports, is a clean, square-jawed individual whose word is as good as his bond. Mack's best friends and warmest admirers are those who have known him longest, which is pretty near the acid test.

There seems no reason in the world why the new owners should not be very successful. Nearly 4000 paid admissions at the exhibition games with Providence, Patriots day, in a city not over strong for exhibition games, the Worcester baseball team, in its first game, won 3-1. The Worcester baseball team, in its first game, won 3-1.

Manager Hamilton has an experienced backstop in Fred Tyler, brother of the Braves' southern star. Tyler was secured from the Syracuse team of the New York state league, where he hit .301 in 102 games last season. He is a big chap, weighing about 175 pounds and standing 5 feet 10-1/2 inches. He will do the bulk of the work behind the bat. Otto Freitag, a Clinton youngster, the town of the Braves' southern star, Tyler was secured from the Syracuse team of the New York state league, where he hit .301 in 102 games last season. He is a big chap, weighing about 175 pounds and standing 5 feet 10-1/2 inches. He will do the bulk of the work behind the bat.

The pitching staff is not yet quite what Manager Hamilton hopes for but he hopes to strengthen it any day now, having lines open for an experienced hurler. Van Dyke, the veteran left hander of last year, Herring who looked good against Providence, and who was in the Colonial league last year, and Scanlon, well known to Worcester fans, are the three regulars. McGinley of Manchester, and Hehr, sent here by Newark, complete the staff.

The infield with four clean fielding, fast thinking, snappy workmen, looks mighty fast. Halsien, who had an off year with Lynn last season, hitting but .235, is at first. Halsien is fast and has always previously hit around .270. Capt. Gus Gardella has been shifted to second and is working around the key-stone sack with Jimmy Connors in the outfield. A fashion model he looked for Gardella hit .270 and Connors .240 last year.

Johnny Strands, who two years ago, before his jump to the Feds hit .310, is at third. Strands looks better than ever and should have a great year. Lou Courtney who clouted the ball for 220 in 68 games in the Colonial league last year is a star utility man and can play any place in the infield except first base.

The outfield looks as good as any in the league. The speedy Pat Maloney is in left, with Earl Pottelger in center, and a newcomer from the Western league, McChesney in right. Maloney hit .291 with Lewiston last season. Pottelger, after hovering around the .300 mark all year, was injured and then slumped in his hitting until he touched .272. McChesney gathered a batting average of .292, and looks capable of worrying many a twirler this year. Mac is an ideal clean-up hitter and will bat fourth.

All in all, the infield and outfield, and first string catcher's position are filled with men who have delivered the goods in the past, and if the pitching staff holds up, Hamilton's men should be well up in the race.

DIAMOND GOSSIP

Spalding park will not be dry for the opening game, May 10, unless we have some sunshine soon.

The quarters of the Lowell baseball club in the Hildreth building were deserted today after about two weeks of rushing business.

Manager Neil Ball of the Bridgeport club is after an infielder, an infielder and a catcher for his team.

Manager Lou Pieper of Lynn yesterday handed yellow slips to Catcher Bob Foster, Pitchers Jewett and Brennan and Infielder Harkins.

The entire fan population of Norwich, Conn. is going to celebrate "Danny Murphy day" by attending the New London-New Haven game on May 26. Norwich likes its native son and is taking this means to help him along as manager of the New Haven club.

Though Fritz Malsel, the clever New York Yankee, has been in the American league for nearly three years, he never made a hit off Walter Johnson until this week, when he cracked out two in one game.

Of the 14 players on the Lawrence roster, but one is inexperienced. He is Dan Murphy, the promising young backstop whose baseball activities have been confined to the professional teams in his home town. Of the other 13 players 11 were with Lawrence last year.

Neal Ball, manager of the Bridgeport club, is a native of that city. When as his release was obtained from Toronto he took charge of the team and put the squad through a workout Thursday afternoon. The negotiations for Ball were underway for a month, but Toronto at first refused to listen to the offers of Owner Harry Cornen. It is said that the Toronto management asked $2500 for the former Cleveland star.

Coombs and Bender, formerly with Connie Mack's champs, opposed each other in the Cubs-Pitts game yesterday. Each of the veterans was hit hard, Bender having seven runnings and the "Iron Man" being jerked in the sixth. Brooklyn, the team with which Coombs started, won, 5 to 3.

The Eastern league teams are starting the season with the following managers all of whom have had valuable experience in baseball and should be capable of producing good results:

Lowell—Harry D. Lord.
Portland—Hugh Duffy.
Lawrence—Jesse C. Burkett.
Lynn—Louis P. Pieper.
Worcester—William J. Hamilton.
Springfield—John Flynn.
Haverhill—Charles Wagner.
New Haven—Daniel Murphy.
New London—H. Eugene McCann.
Bridgeport—Neal Ball.

"The only way to advance in baseball is to pick some goal beyond your present ability," says Leo Magee of the Highlanders. "If you are batting at .250, work to hit .300. If you are batting at .300, shoot for .320. I do not believe a good player should be satisfied with his game. There are always weaknesses to be corrected and points to be picked up. The minute a player becomes satisfied with his ability, he is about through, and ready to start the other way."

Connie Mack does not expect to win the American league pennant this season, but there is no question but that he hopes to spring a surprise and finish in the first or at the head of the second division. Experts say that before the season is over Mack will have his youngsters working together in fine shape. He is a pretty good fellow, and the fellow who figured his own and out a year ago may awaken one year hence and find out what a mistake they made.

This Speaker seems to be the tonic the fans needed. The team has been playing far beyond their "proper" form and the "home town folks" are rooting for them to keep it up.

The members of the Lowell Textile baseball team left this city at noon today for Ashburnham, where they meet the Cushing academy team this afternoon.

HELD LOWELL NIGHT

CANDLEPIN TOURNEY HELD ON THE CASINO ALLEYS IN LYNN—ONE RECORD MADE

Last night was "Lowell Night" at the annual duck and candlepin tourney held on the Casino alleys and the Lowell bowlers made an excellent showing. One new tournament record was made when the Crescent 1536 against the duck pins.

The night's high scores in the candle pins were made by Walter Jewett of this city in the individual competition with 346; by Gangi and Ayer of Wintthrop for two-men teams, with 536; by Gangi, Howatt and Burden of Wintthrop for three-men teams, with 934; and by the Wintthrop team in the five-man competition with 1483.

"Ladies' Night," also was observed. Miss Loretta McEnaney of Lowell, proved the best individual in both candle pins and duck pins with a score of 246 for the canoes and 267 for the ducks. Paired with Mrs. Kelman, also of Lowell, she helped set a new high mark for the double candle pin teams with 502.

Against the duckpins, the high scores for the night were made by Johnson of Lowell in the individual tournament, with 336; by Cranford and Martel of Lowell for the two-men teams, with 649; Lebrun and Donohoe rolled a total of 644 for second place; by Myrick, Craibe and Martel for three-men teams, with 939; Concanon, McDermott and Johnson totaled 925, and by the Crescent team for five-men teams, with 1433.

In the women's duckpins, Miss Houshman and Miss Bourgourd of Lowell rolled 539, while in the competition between teams of three women, Miss Bourgourd, Mrs. Kelman and Miss McEnaney scored 753. The Crescent team of five women made the highest mark in their class, with 1241.

WANTS LAVIGNE

Jesse Burkett is After Lowell Catcher—Players to Be Dropped

Before many more games are played by the Lowell team on its trip through the southern part of the Eastern circuit, it is very probable that Manager Harry Lord will reduce the ranks of the team by farming out or selling some of his players. These were the instructions given to him by Owner Roach before the team departed Thursday.

Arthur Lavigne, catcher, who did not sign his contract until the eleventh hour, is one of the players latched to go. The local club is too many first string men. Either Lavigne or Joe Kilhullen is capable of doing the bulk of the work for any team. With Greenhalge as a second string man only one of the aforementioned players is needed and indications point to the selling of Lavigne.

Burkett of Lawrence is out strong for Lavigne and it looks as though Art will go to the down river club. Burkett's only reliable catcher is an inexperienced youngster named Murphy, who was picked up from some semi-professional team.

The three men who are on the Lowell club he will be played regularly and Murphy will fill the bill as helper.

President Roach stated today that Lavigne and one or two other players will probably go. "I left everything with Manager Lord," he said, "but have not heard from him since Tuesday. It is going to get rid of some of the players but that is all I know." Both Lawrence and Lowell are scheduled to play in Connecticut at next week and a deal may be put through in the meantime.

Lavigne played with Lowell two years ago and was sold at the close of the season to the Memphis club of the Southern association, but instead of reporting to that team he jumped to the Federal league where he played for a time. He joined sity of Pennsylvania's annual relay carnival at Franklin field today.

In the one mile race Harvard, Chicago, Princeton, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania were all represented by fast teams. Harvard, with Teschner, Villcox and Bingham of last year's team, was a slight favorite. Ferguson of the Pennsylvania team was in this event to compete and Lennon was also reported to be in bad shape. Scudder, who ran a fast quarter in the medley sprint yesterday, was prepared to take Lennon's place and with Meredith, Kaufman and Devey, hoped to land the red and blue in the lead. The Wisconsin team which won the western championship last Saturday in 3:23 4-5 was picked by many as the dark horse in this event.

RECORDS BROKEN

Philadelphia, April 29.—Howard Barry, the all-around athlete of the University of Pennsylvania, yesterday won the pentathlon one of the feature events of the 22nd annual relay race carnival held on Franklin Field. The Pennsylvania who also won the event last year, was first in all five events, making up the pentathlon—broad jump, javelin throw, 200-meter race, discus throw and 1500-meter race.

Pennsylvania won the sprint medley relay race for the American college championship in the world's record time of 3:29 3-5. The former record was 3:33 3-5, made by Pennsylvania last year. Wisconsin captured the discus medley relay race for the championship in hollow style, her only competitor being Pennsylvania.

Weight Record Broken
Another record to go was that for throwing the 56-pound weight, Jr. White of Syracuse heaving it 31 feet, 5 inches, which betters the collegiate record by 4 feet 1-1/2 inch.

Next to Barry, A. Nash of Rutgers was a consistent performer. He finished second to Barry in all the pentathlon events except the 150-meter race, in which he ran last. The other competitors in the pentathlon were E. Kunkle, Penn. State; W. Creighton, Penn.; J. Dewhurst, Georgetown, who finished in the order named.

Sprint Medley Excellent

The sprint medley race, in which the first two men run 220 yards each, the third 440 and the fourth 880 yards, was exciting from start to finish. The entrants were Columbia, Pennsylvania, Chicago, Michigan, Princeton and Wisconsin.

Kaufman for Pennsylvania led the sprinters in the relay with more of Princeton, and Smith of Wisconsin close up. Lennon, Pennsylvania; Barrett, Princeton; Carter, Wisconsin, finished the second 220-yard relay in the order named. Then Diamond, the noted negro runner in the western continent, was heared to the front in the third relay. He held his lead to the end, six yards in front of Scudder, Penn., and Richardson, Princeton.

Was by Three Yards

As the last relay started, Meredith of Pennsylvania, the Olympic champion, was about six yards behind. Princeton fell back, and the race was between Meredith, Stout of Chicago and Harvey of Wisconsin.

The three men who until round the stretch, where Meredith got out of a pocket, went to the front, and won by about three yards. Stout was second and Harvey third. Meredith's time for the half mile was 1:34 4-5.

The festivities opened with a short musical program by Mihner's orchestra after which two plush curtains were drawn across the stage, revealing the minstrel performers seated around a long, cabaret style, against a background of blue tinsel. In back of the tables there was pretty lattice work and a wealth of greenery. The minstrel boys first sang the overture, which consisted of both popular and classical numbers and then Joseph Perry was introduced. He gave "All Aboard for Chinatown," assisted by four little lads dressed to represent "Chinks." "Good-Bye, Good Luck, God Bless You," a beautiful sentimental ballad, was well rendered by James

MONEY LOANED ON REAL ESTATE Parties can borrow on either first or second mortgages. Old mortgage notes discounted. Helms or others can have money advanced on undivided estates anywhere.

Indeud new capital in twice this volume has for some time past been cheerfully contributed for this purpose. Other public service corporations meantime have suffered from impaired credit. Investors in their securities have met with loss, and the public has complained, and is now complaining of their lack of facilities for proper service.

"We believe therefore that we have every reason to protest against the subjection of the telephone corporations to investigation and additional regulation."

CAR AND AUTO CRASHED TRUCK OF TURNER CENTRE CREAMERY COLLIDED WITH CAR NEAR MERRIMACK SQUARE

An automobile truck belonging to the Turner Centre Creamery and operated by Charles Sabourin, of 615 Chelmsford street, was struck by a Peilham car of the Massachusetts Northeastern Railway Co. at the corner of Merrimack and Central streets shortly after eight o'clock last night. As a result of the impact, one of the mud guards of the truck was torn off and the pre-oil-lite tank was also displaced. The fender of the electric car also suffered injury.

According to the driver of the automobile he was going slowly through Merrimack street on the right hand side and saw the Peilham car stopped on the further side of Central street waiting for a chance to get into the square. Sabourin says he signalled with his hand that he was to swing in to Central street and supposed he had the right of way. Just as he started to cross the car cracks the electric started and crashed into his machine.

THEY DO SAY

That the latest thing in hats is rats.

That a broken promise is hard to mend.

That it will soon be time to go May-flowering.

That the "broiled lives" were all to the good.

That it is hard to go where you are not wanted.

That the Nashua K. of C. are real entertainers.

That the Red Cross still needs willing workers.

That today is the last day of the season in Lynn.

That Leon seems to have poor luck with chickens.

That breaking big lights of glass is costly fooling.

That we are all too busy giving advice to take any.

That the farmers say April snow is a great fertilizer.

That sometimes our imagination is our worst enemy.

That Nellie thinks Happy's whiskers are very becoming.

forced than in the days when we had a ludico-reform regime.

That Lowell is going to have a new high school and a new bridge at Pawtucket falls—some day.

That a good way to start something is to ask at a party who are the six prettiest girls in Lowell.

That city hall may need a dentist rather than a consulting engineer to help with the bridge work.

That the most popular saying of the street yesterday was "Can you beat it," meaning the weather.

That some of the famous pictures looked far prettier when they were just themselves afterwards.

That "The Ladies' Battle" was war at its best—and all according to international law into the bargain.

That the Lowell boy with the bright colored socks proved to be some bouncer at Keith's this week.

That Lowell in its quiet way is doing a great deal for music and literature but not so much for painting.

That the tops of the shoes are chasing the bottom of the skirt but they have not caught up to it yet.

That Charlie Morse didn't have to worry over yesterday's storm, for the snow went away as fast as it fell.

That Gus Donovan of Lawrence has been displaced by a staunch republican on the state board of labor.

That one has but to travel to "Frisco to appreciate what a feat it is to talk with the coast by telephone.

That Clement says he will not dispose of his violin for in the afternoon it is a great amusement for the cats.

That some people couldn't understand why the "no school" bell was rung in yesterday but Supt. Mooley explained it.

That the three May parties of the Highland club to be given next month are to be well attended judging from the demand for tickets.

That the worst piece of roadway in the whole United States is in Methuen between Stanley's and Glen Forest.

That a Colonial dame could step out of her picture and down Merrimack street now without looking old-fashioned.

That Centralville residents who live beyond that "121-2 turnout" are doing some tall kicking about the car service.

That the Mathews of Billerica gave the Mathews of Lowell two good lessons on how "indoor sports" should be played.

That Edward J. Tierney is the right man in the right place as president of the Pawtucketville Improvement association.

That we are all grateful to the woman suffrage workers who give us a respite from the speeches and labored arguments.

That the array of finely gownned young ladies at the ball Wednesday evening was worth looking at from the gallery.

That a light ought to be installed on the temporary foot bridge on Chelmsford street before serious accidents happen.

That Mayor O'Donnell comes close to solving the problem of being in two places at the same time, in filling social engagements.

That that black and white ball proved what an energetic group of ladies can do in a good cause when they go about it seriously.

That if the cutters of a certain shop turned out as much work as they do cheap talk the company would have to build an addition.

That Rene Dellys and his sister-in-law made a bit with their French conversation over the telephone at the board of trade banquet.

That a young man who uses crude oil to make his hair grow does not mind the smell—"look at the fine fur the skunk has," he says.

That a new bridge over Beaver brook at Beaver street would not cost much and would mean a great improvement for the district.

That the members of the industrial accident board had such a splendid time in Lowell recently that they will return again in the near future.

That some people think that in order to be seen at a classy affair they must talk to all those anywhere near them during the entire performance.

That the show at the Armory Thursday night was one of the most interesting and instructive withal, that has been held in Lowell in a long time.

That the municipal council revived the old song: "Ter-rar-rab-boom-dey" at its meeting last Tuesday, Commissioner Morse sustaining the solo.

That a large number of Lowellians went to Nashua and Manchester on Thursday to enjoy the holiday, for it was "Fast day" in the Granite state.

That it is very disagreeable after going to a hall early to get a good seat to have a woman come in late and push up front and actually fall on you.

That the crowd in the gallery voted the Black and White ball the classiest affair of its kind ever held and the gallery does the voting at such affairs.

That Mike Maloney is some weather prophet, for he vowed that yesterday's storm had to come sooner or later, though his friends laughed at the prediction.

That a fellow who heard that Commissioner Putnam was going to have a "blow out" and didn't know it meant the water mains, was hanging round for an invitation.

That a Lowell boy has been away five months and during that time he has spent seven months in England and four months in the French trenches; that's going some.

That automobile drivers who become intoxicated had better steer shy of Lowell for if they are brought be-

Batters—Miller Heads
Am. League Sluggers

CHICAGO, April 29.—Ivan Olson of the Brooklyn Nationals, with 345 and Ward Miller of the St. Louis Americans with 300 are the leading batters in the two major leagues, according to averages compiled here today. Ty Cobb is beginning to move upward among American league batters. The figures show that Cobb, though out of recent games because of illness, has increased his average from .231 as shown last week, to .269. His average ranks him 16th in the American league. Cleveland leads the batters in total bases with 21 and is tied with Pelach of Chicago in home runs, at two each. Felsch leads in runs scored with ten. Speaker, Cleveland, and Baker, New York, are ahead in stolen bases with four each. The following are "three hundred" batters:

Miller, St. Louis, 300; Nunn, New York, 337; Speaker, Cleveland, 330; Janvin, Boston, 333; Olson, New York, 351; Schalk, Chicago, 352; Henry, Washington, 352; Grady, Cleveland, 353; Hohlitz, Boston, 356; Coley, New York, 316; Magee, New York, 316; Shanks, Washington, 316; Henkle, Boston, 310; Pratt, St. Louis, 309; Gardner, Boston, 304; Louis, Chicago, 302; Cobb, Detroit, 299.

The ten leading pitchers in the American league, ranked according to runs: Clevland, one won, none lost; Leonard, Boston, two won, none lost; Ruth, Boston, four won, none lost; Fisher, New York, two won, none lost; Nabors, Philadelphia, one won, none lost; Faber, Chicago, three won, none lost; Coughlin, Cleveland, two won, none lost; S. Covelis, Cleveland, one won, one lost.

The National League, Max Plack, and Heinle, Groh, Cincinnati, runs scored with ten each, in ten games. Groh has most runs with two and Chare, and Carey, Pittsburgh, are ahead in stolen bases with five each. Plack, Heinle, Groh, Cincinnati, runs scored with ten each, in ten games. AT ROSE JORDAN HARTFORD'S Mrs. Rose Jordan Hartford has just returned from New York and reports that the big city is a blaze of glory as far as millinery is concerned and the fads and fancies in smart sport hats would crack your eye to see them. She says: "The picture and model hats are dreams and there is an almost endless variety to select from, and as usual, we selected a large variety of the most striking, trimmed and trimmed hats. To my mind the spring and summer creations 'never were as chic and pleasing to the wearer. We have no time to write an advertisement this week, but we will say that we have returned from the fashion centers with millinery that will please every customer." Call today and select what you want at Rose Jordan Hartford's, milliner, Merrimack street.

There will be two meetings of the naturalization classes next week, the first on Tuesday and the second on Thursday evening. The classes will be held in the Green school at 7.30 o'clock.

Mrs. A. C. Castle who addressed the primary teachers a short time ago on the "See and Say" system of phonics, is to come to Lowell again on Thursday to visit schools and to address the teachers at a meeting to be held at 4.15 p. m. in high school hall.

There will be a meeting for evening school principals and teachers at the Lowell Normal school on Wednesday evening, May 3, 1916, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be for the purpose of improving methods of teaching and administration in evening schools. Mr. M. J. Downey, assistant supervisor of evening schools in Boston, will speak on the topic "Fundamentals in Evening Teaching." All principals and teachers are invited to attend.

Those Steel Conferences. What has been done at all those steel conferences, so called, in the city hall, this morning, and the promised man with the query that his answer would appear in the city hall news today. The purpose of the conferences was to arrive at something tangible relative to the delivery of iron for the city. The delivery of iron for the city is a matter of great importance, and the city has been unable to take some decisive step in this matter within a very short time. The proposals are important and need immediate attention. The steel contract has been a big stumbling block, but we must roll it over and get on with the business. I think the public feels that way.

The mayor then authorized a statement from the purchasing agent of the city relative to the bids received and rejected.

The bids were for 1000 tons of structural steel and 500 tons of reinforcing steel. The bids were received by the city on April 22, the feeling being that by more nearly approaching the bidders in the time they specify for delivery, the better figures could be obtained. For instance, the delivery of the first delivery, July 15, was the third, Sept. 1. Most of the bidders expressed a desire to make later deliveries, especially after the first delivery, and said they would give lower figures at a later extension of time. The bids were as follows:

Reinforcing steel—E. A. Tucker Co. $3.10 per 100 pounds. This bid was not according to specifications in every detail.

Comers Brothers, $22.60 for 2000 pound ton and they stated that if given extension of one month they would make $24.50 per ton.

The Concrete Steel Product company submitted the following bids: For 3.4 inch or larger, $68.50 a ton; 3 inch, $69.50; 2.5 inch, $70.50; 2 inch, $72.50; 1.5 inch, $75.00; or for material shipped from Boston stock.

A breeder's sale, offering the first opportunity to buy at auction Gold Medal Cows that have made over 600, over 700, over 800, over 900 and one that has made over 1000 lbs. butter in a year.

This will be one of the greatest sales of Jerseys ever held.

Community Day is Observed—New Playground Laid Out

With picks, shovels, hoes, wheelbarrows and other necessary tools and equipment, several hundred residents of Billerica turned out today to assist in the carrying out of the "Community Day" program and to convert the barren lot of land left to the town by the late Charles H. Kohlrausch into a finished playground with a modern baseball diamond and other attractions.

The volunteer workers included men, women and children, the women doing some light work and taking care of the refreshments. This evening supper will be served to 500.

For several weeks arrangements have been in progress for today's program under the direction of the park commission and numerous assistants and the results of their work were most gratifying. The day was a success and early this afternoon the workers began to arrive in numbers even larger than the committee had expected. There was plenty of work for all, however, and everyone was assigned to a duty. All hands co-operated ably and worked till the end of the day as much as possible toward providing for a playground for the younger element of Billerica.

Some of the things planned to be done are: To lay out a baseball diamond that can be flooded for a skating rink in the winter; to fill in for tennis court; erect a community house for shelter and lockers; plant trees and shrubs; erect an outdoor amphitheatre; set up playground equipment; and do other work to make the grounds attractive and beautiful.

The entire afternoon was not spent at work, however, for a musical program was furnished. The Middlesex County Training school arrived at the village in an auto truck early in the afternoon and furnished several excellent numbers. There was also speaking by the committee and several other numbers on the program.

HELD COSTUME PARTY

A most enjoyable costume party was held last evening at the Highland club by Captain and Mrs. Thomas B. Doe. The party was given by the club and was attended by a large number of guests.

The first annual banquet of the employees of the U. S. Cartridge Co. night repair department will be held tonight in the Richardson hotel. Mr. L. Jacobs, superintendent of the department, will be the toastmaster.

BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP. CHICAGO, April 29.—The executive committee of the National Baseball Federation met here today to draft rules for conducting an elimination series next fall to determine the amateur, and semi-professional, baseball championship of the United States.

DOWNEY SIGNED NEW RUG CO. TO START

Lowell Has New Infielder in Today's Lineup—An Ex-Fed Star

Tom Downey, a former Cincinnati and Federal league infielder, was today signed to play with the Lowell club in the Eastern league and he reported to Manager Lord in time to take part in this afternoon's game at Bridgeport. Downey was placed at second base and "Shubert" Greenhalge, who covered the pivot sack yesterday, was Harry Lord's choice for the leading end of the battery.

The idea embodied in the name was to make the selection for work on the slab with Horsey and King in reserve.

Downey is said to be a classy infielder. In fact, he is considered so good that Manager Helme Wagner of the Hartford team has been negotiating for him. Harry Lord, who played in the Federal league at the same time as Downey, signed up the second baseman for a long time, however.

With Downey playing second and Lord in his old position at third, the Lowell infield looks much stronger. Neither Lord nor Spies was accustomed to playing second base; it is probable that Spies will be sold now that the infield is complete.

DUBLIN IN FLAMES

Continued. The Dublin metropolitan police exposed to somewhat similar treatment to that of the soldiers by the rebels and most of the policemen to their homes and changed to clothing.

Rebels Cut Wires. Postmen on duty at the postoffice, which was the first place to be attacked by the rebels, became their headquarters, sent away and told to come back for their wages which were paid to them in Irish republican age. The rebels cut all the wires, destroyed the apparatus and sent the money they could find. Everything, except failure to be chosen by the rebels, were uniformed as were the regulars. Their clothing, arms and weapons were good, and they were viewed with trepidation.

Well Supplied With Ammunition. The ammunition supply appeared to be plentiful. Some of the rebels had the hotel where the rebels were assembled. The rebels had the hotel where the rebels were assembled. The rebels had the hotel where the rebels were assembled.
